MEN WILL NOT HANG

Convicted Tennessee Night Riders Granted New Trial.

SLAYERS OF CAPT. RANKIN

Principal Reasons, Court Did NoNt Select Jury in Proper Manner and Defendants Were Not Allowed Enough Challenges.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Jackson, Tenn., July 3.—The cases of the eight Night Riders, six of whom were under death sentence charged with the murder of Captain Quentin Rankin, at Walnut Log, on Reelfoot Lake, October 19th, were reversed by the State Supreme Court today and were remanded for new trials.

The six men who were under the death sentence are: Garrett Johnson, alleged leader of the Night Riders' organization in Obion County; Arthur Cloar, Fred Pinion, Sam Applewhite, Tid Burton and Roy Ransom. The other two, Bud Morris and Bob Huffman, were convicted of murder in the second degree. The opinion in the case was delivered by Special Justice Henry A. Craft, of Memphis, appointed in the stead of Justice M. M. Neil.

In reversing the case, he assigned two principal reasons. The first was that the grand jury, which found the indictments against the alleged Night Riders, was not selected in a proper manner. The grand jury was selected out of a panel named by Judge J. E. Jones, the trial judge, whereas the law provides the panel must be chosen by at least three members of the county court. The second error on which the reversal was based is that the State did not allow the defendants a sufficient number of challenges. The eight were tried on an indictment and trial court upheld the States' contention that the eight defendants were only entitled to the legal number of challenges, twenty four, which would apply if one man was on trial.

When Justice Craft concluded his opinion a storm of applause broke out in the court room but was quickly stopped by the marshal and his deputies. The prisoners will be taken back to Union City and an effort will be made to secure their release on bail pending a second trial of their cases.

Union City, Tenn., July 3.—Those most active in the prosecution of the alleged Night Riders of Reelfoot Lake consider the situation now such as may again assume a serious phase. That it will be difficult to secure a jury to again try the case is conceded and as yet no decision has yet been reached by the representatives of the State as to their future plans. An immediate trial of other pending cases of a similar nature, however, is not looked for.

FARMER'S TRAGIC DEATH.

Fell to Ground From Balloon in Which He Was Accidentally Caught.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Big Stone Gap, Va., July 3.—During a Fourth of July celebration here today Edward Cox, a farmer, was instantly killed. He was watching a balloon ascend and his feet caught in the ropes of the parachute. He was carried high in the air and fell, receiving fatal injuries.

AEROPLANE FOR SIGNAL CORPS.

Many Thousand Dollars to be Spent for Larger Machine.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, July 3.—The officers of the Signal Corps of the Army are considering the feasibility of issuing proposals for bids for an aeroplane capable of fulfilling more difficult requirements than those which the Wright machine is under contract to accomplish. Because A. M. Herring has not complied with his contract, the Signal Corps has $20,000 additional at its disposal for this purpose. It is conceded that the Wrights are able to meet all the conditions imposed upon them, and it is the desire of the Signal Corps officers to offer a further incentive to inventors to develop the aeroplane to even greater possibilities.

The new specifications which may not be issued by the War Department for some time, probably after the officers have been instructed in the handling of the Wright aeroplane, may call for any number of new accomplishments. It may be decided to increase the rate of speed from 40 to 50 miles and to require the machine to remain in the air for two or even three hours. It also is possible that the aeroplane would have to make a cross country flight between two cities.

The Wright brothers are working on their machine today and hope to have it repaired by the early part of next week.

THREATEN TO LYNCH ITALIANS

Murder of Young Man Who Was Italian Girl's Lover.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New Orleans, La., July 3.—An appeal to Governor Sanders for the protection of Italian citizens of Bossier Parish was made today by Acting Consul Pappini at New Orleans. This action followed information from Bossier that all Italians had been ordered to leave that section. Feeling the Italian residents is said to run high as the result of the murder of Wimberk Boney, Jr., a young planter, by Italians near Benton, La., Thursday.

Several terror stricken Italians have already left the community. Threats of lynching were freely expressed against Italians arrested for alleged complicity in Boney's murder. A mass meeting of citizens pledged itself to do everything possible against mob vengeance. Those in jail are John Fulco, his wife, daughter and son, and another Italian named Piaro. It was generally understood that Boney and the daughter of Fulco were soon to have been married. He was killed in Fulco's store.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—A ruling was made today by the Inter-State Commerce Commission that "one carrier shipping fuel material or other supplies over the lines of another carrier must pay the legal tariff rates applicable to the same commodities shipped between the same points by an individual. If carriers insist upon making or aminating preferential rates they may confidently expect that such voluntary action will be accepted as evidence of the unreasonableness of higher rates which they may undertake to enforce against other shippers."

TRAGEDY AT ELIZABETH CITY

Set Newby Kills His Sister Then Takes His Own Life—Unjust Cause for Rash Deed—She Expected the Tragedy.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Elizabeth City, N. C., July 3.—Tired of making beds and washing dishes, Set Newby, 34 years old, shot and killed his sister this afternoon because she left him a week ago to marry and keep house for another.

Newby first demanded that his sister cook his meals in her new home. Her husband, Clem Barnes, objected. Newby went to the Barnes' home, forced his sister into a room, locked the door pulled down the shades, blew her brains out and then fired a shot into his own head. The woman had expected this fate to be hers and requested yesterday that she be buried in her wedding gown.

WOMAN MURDERED HUSBAND

Dying Man Told Lie to Save His Wife.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Cincinnati, O., July 3.—Mrs. Mary Rice, whose husband, John Rice, a janitor, died at the city hospital last Thursday night from the effects of two bullet wounds, told the police today that the ante-mortem statement of her husband that he shot himself was false, and confessed that she fired the shots. Mrs. Rice said she intended to commit suicide, following a quarrel with her husband. Rice seized the pistol and in the struggle that followed for possession of the revolver she shot him. A charge of murder was placed against Mrs. Rice.

FOUNDER OF G. A. R.

Memorial to Dr. Benjamin Franklin Stephenson Unveiled.

PRESIDENT TAFT SPEAKS

He Paid Glowing Tribute to Organization of Veterans Who Wear the Blue—Regular Troops and Militia in Review.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, July 3.—Declaring that unlike the Pretorian Guard of Rome, the men who made up the Union forces during the Civil War were in favor of free institutions, that they fought for them and did not intend to sacrifice them to anything else, President Taft today as the principal speaker at the unveiling of a memorial to Dr. Benjamin Franklin Stephenson, founder of the G. A. R., paid a glowing tribute to that organization.

Congress having contributed to the cost of the memorial, and President Taft said he was present in his official capacity. He remained throughout the entire exercises, which lasted over an hour and a half and were more or less official in their character. All available regular forces in and about Washington and the District of Columbia militia turned out and after the exercises were over passed in review before the President, and high officials of the army and G. A. R.

The President spoke in part as follows:

"I can conceive no bond of union stronger than that which unites the men who fought from '61 to '65 in the Grand Army; and it was to the credit of the founder of the Grand Army of the Republic that he saw the solid basis upon which such a structure as that great society could be erected.

"You will recollect that there were prophets of evil with respect to the fate of the United States after the war should cease, after the end should be accomplished, for which the North was fighting, and it was said that the aggregation of a million men in arms threatened our free institutions. They recalled that the Pretorian Guard of Rome was an instrument in furthering the ambition of those who would suppress free institutions and who were to assume despotic power. But all those prophecies faded into nothingness. The men who composed that million were men in favor of free institutions who had fought for them and did not intend to sacrifice them in anything else. There was no man with the ambition to improve that army as an instrument even if it had been willing to furnish itself as such; and so it was the marvel of other countries that this great body of organized force, than which there never was a stronger or better disciplined army, faded out and disappeared into the paths of peace, preserving nothing but the sweet memory and association that they had formed during the war and consciousness that they had in their own hearts of having rendered that greatest service, to witness the preservation of their country."

DISCRIMINATION BY RAILROADS

Inter-State Commission Powerless to Relieve Mississippi Town.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, D. C., July 3.—After a thorough investigation of the complaint instituted by the Hattiesburg, (Miss.) Commercial Club against the Alabama Great Southern Railroad Company and other Southern inter-State carriers, the Inter-State Commerce Commission, announces in a decision handed down today, that it "is unable to find discrimination that is unjust and that can be removed by any lawful, effective and enforceable order."

The complainant attacked as unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory the general adjustment of freight rates to and from Hattiesburg, as compared with rates to and from New Orleans, La.; Mobile, Ala., and various other points in the South. Particular complaint was made that Jackson and Meridian, Miss., were grouped by the railroads to the detriment of Hattiesburg. The Commission holds, however, that, as a matter of law, it cannot compel the railroads to group Hattiesburg with Jackson and Meridian "however strongly it might feel inclined to relieve the conditions complained of."

INTEREST IN LIBERIANS CASE

Several Difficult Matters to Be Reported by Commission.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, D. C., July 3.—Much interest is attached to the forth-coming report of the commission sent to Liberia by the President to investigate the unsatisfactory conditions in that Republic. Liberia's difficulties over customs administration, over boundary line batters and other troubles have aggravated the uneasiness. The commissioners have made up their minds as to the recommendations they intend to make to this Government. They are to draft their individual views and then meet in Washington the middle of this month to prepare a full report.

COMPLETING TARIFF

Provision to Discriminate Against Nations Who Are Unfair.

MUST PAY 25 PER CENT MORE

Senate Will Vote Monday on Proposition to Submit to States Amendment to Constitution Providing for Income Tax.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, July 3.—The maximum and minimum provisions of the tariff bill were adopted by the Senate today by a vote of 36 to 18. The final action upon this amendment came at the close of a day devoted to a lively discussion of the proposed retaliatory measure that brought out a great variety of views as to the advisability of enacting such legislation. The provisions of this measure will go into effect March 31, 1910, and 90 days must elapse before a President's proclamation applying the maximum duty and 25 per cent. ad valorem in addition to other duties provided in the bill will be operative. The duty on tea and coffee as provided in the amendment originally reported by the committee was stricken out with the assent of the finance committee upon an amendment offered by Senator Daniel.

The Senate also agreed to vote upon the submission of an income tax amendment to the constitution to the several States for ratification, this vote to be taken upon the resolution and all amendments next Monday at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Aldrich soon after the assembly proceeded to explain the Senate's substitute for the original maximum and minimum provision of the bill as it passed the House. The House provided for a specified increase of the rates of duty on numerous articles fixed by the bill in case of the failure of the country from which any given article should come to grant to the imports from the United States the same terms given to importations from the most favored nations. The Senate committee on Finance presented a substitute providing for an increase of 25 per cent. over the rates of the Payne-Aldrich bill against countries which by export bounty or otherwise discriminate against the United States. The amendment provided that the additional rate should go into effect immediately unless the President should, after March 31, 1910, issue a proclamation that no such discrimination exists.

The amendment also provided a duty of five cents a pound on coffee and ten cents a pound on tea coming from the countries thus discriminating against the products of the United States.

Mr. Aldrich read a statement showing the maximum and minimum laws of other countries. Since that statement was prepared, he said, France had adopted rates of tariff that varied on an average of 50 per cent.

Mr. Daniel criticised the proposed legislation as authorizing the President to make treaties with foreign powers without submitting them to the Senate. Mr. Daniel's amendment to strike out the duty on tea and coffee, was accepted by Mr. Aldrich and agreed to.

Senator Culberson, offering an amendment to make non-partisan the appointment of the tariff commission and to pay them salaries of $7,500 annually, Mr. Aldrich declared that experts were to be selected and he did not believe politics would be considered by the President in that connection.

"From the morning papers," said Mr. Bailey, "the director of the census is making his appointments for partisan reasons. If that is true it is the first time it has been done in the history of this country."

"We are united in our esteem for the President," said Mr. Money, "but under the dispensation of Providence he might die and we might have a bad man like the Presiding Officer of the Senate and he might make partisan appointments."

Vice President Sherman joined in the smile that became general as the Mississippi Senator proceeded to show the temptation of men to make appointments with a partisan bias.

Mr. Money further declared that he understood that the Postmaster General is to appoint the census supervisors, and referring to Mr. Hitchcock he continued:

"Whatever that distinguished gentleman may be doing, I have never been able to find him in the Postoffice Department. I have called four or five times to see him and I have never been able to find him. My experience is the common experience on this side of the House."

The Senate fell into a discussion of the reasons for the failure of the Senate to ratify the reciprocity treaties negotiated under the Dingley law.

Mr. Bacon charged that Mr. Aldrich had been responsible for that failure and was called to order by Mr. Aldrich for revealing executive secrets.

By 17 to 43 the amendment offered by Mr. Culberson was rejected.

Mr. Heyburn offered and Mr. Aldrich accepted for the Finance Committee an amendment requiring 90 days notice for the application of the maximum rate after the minimum rate has been in force. In presenting the amendment Mr. Heyburn expressed apprehension that as it stood the provision would cause unrest.

This criticism brought Mr. Aldrich to his feet with a recital of discriminations that have been practiced by foreign governments against the United States. France, he said, had imposed her maximum tariff against the United States and against no one else. Germany had imposed various restrictions upon American meat and other products and about a dozen other nations had maximum and minimum laws. It was to protect the American producers of farm and other products that this provision had been framed.

Senator Bacon approving the idea of retaliatory provision, said he thought the method employed should be reversed. The duties should be fixed, he said, with power for the President to increase a rate if this country is discriminated against.

The vote being taken on the maximum and minimum provision, it was adopted 36 to 18.

NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

For Elevation of the Colored Ministry Locates at Durham.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Durham, N. C., July 3.—A gift by Brodie L. Duke, of 25 acres of land will enable Dr. James E. Sheppard, colored, the incorporator, to locate and open a National Religious Training School and Chautauqua here in November next.

The school is for the elevation of the colored ministry and training of missionaries. Prominent among the white members of the advisory board are Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, of New York; Rabbi Abram Simon, of Washington; Senator Overman; D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte; General Julian Carr, of Durham; General B. W. Green, of Little Rock, and Judge Pritchard, of Asheville.

The immediate construction work will consist of two dormitories costing $20,000 each and an auditorium at a cost of $15,000. An endowment fund of $150,000 will support the faculty for the present.

There was a great contest for the location of the school. A conditional gift of $50,000 when $100,000 has been raised already has been made.

CONFERENCE AT MONTREAT

Large Number of Delegates in Attendance—Interesting Discussions.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Black Mountain, N. C., July 3.—At the annual conference of the Young People's Missionary Movement at Montreat addresses were made by E. D. Harper and H. C. Myers, of New York. A large number of delegates have arrived and much interest is being manifested. At the morning session five mission study classes were organized, an institute on missions in the Sunday School was held and an address was made by Dr. E. N. Poteat, president of Furman University, of Greenville, S. C., on "The Principles of the Greatest Career." Tonight denominational meetings were held.

INVENTION OF LIGHTNING ROD.

France Denies That Ben Franklin is Inventor.
(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Paris, July 3.—France has refused to recognize Benjamin Franklin as the inventor of the lightning rod, claiming that that honor belongs to a French physician named Jacquesde Romas, who in 1750, two years before Franklin, announced a means of diverting lightning. The French Academy of Science in 1764 recognized Romas' claim to priority and now President Fallieres has accepted the presidency of a committee formed to erect a monument to Romas, the real inventor of the lightning rod.

BLOODY FIGHT WITH POSSE

Eight Men Shot in Desperate Fight With Ex-convict Who Was Himself Shot in Back—Ammunition Exhausted.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Lone, Ore., July 3.—Eight men were shot here today in a battle between a sheriff's posse and T. G. Earheart, said to be an ex-convict. W. H. Escue, an aged man of Portland, was shot by members of a posse by mistake, and Earheart was wounded in the back after having shot six of his pursuers. None of the victims, with the exception of Escue, is seriously wounded. Earheart surrendered to the posse after his ammunition was exhausted and he was taken to Heppner.

Earheart quarreled with E. E. Miller, on whom he is alleged to have drawn a knife. Earheart afterward, it is stated, broke into a store and stole a shot gun and a quantity of ammunition. Meanwhile Deputy Sheriff Casson gathered a posse and called on Earheart to surrender. The reply was a shot and then Earheart started to run. The posse fired several dozen shots after the fleeing man, who returned the fire.

Earheart took refuge under a warehouse, whence he fired at his pursuers, hitting several. Escue, who had been sleeping on the ground nearby, arose, and some members of the posse mistook him for Earheart and fired at him inflicting injuries from which he may die. When Earheart's ammunition was exhausted he surrendered.

The Sailors were unable to do anything with the delivery of Hallman, on the slab for the visitors yesterday afternoon, connecting with his delivery for but four hits while the Highlanders garnered six off Ashton, the new acquisition from Richmond, one of them for an extra base, and won the game two to nothing, in a very fast and snappy exhibition of the sport.

Ashton made a fine impression on the bugs, however, and the team played brilliant ball behind him. The vistors scored in the fifth with a pass, a hit, and a bad throw home and again in the ninth when Clemens started the inning with a two-base hit to right, stole third and finally wandered his way home on an error of Kite in dropping the ball.

Lohr was out, second to first; Guerrant fanned, Clemens flew to short. Wilmington; Hemp fanned, Nichols out second to first, Smith hit a screamer to left for two bases, but Brodie was out, short to first.

Second—Schumaker was out second to first, Streaser singled to left, McKernan hit to short and both runners were out on a double. Wilmington: Levy fanned; Sharp safe on error of short, but was out trying second; Jayes hit to short too hot to handle but was out trying second.

Third—Johnson flew to left, Galvin out short to first, Hallman was hit by pitched ball but Lohr flew out to right. Wilmington: Kite out third to first, Ashton fanned, Hemp out pitcher to first.

Fourth—Guerrant out short to first; Clemens popped out to catcher; Schumaker fanned. Wilmington: Nichols flew to centre; Smith up and Wilmington made the demand that Kelly come behind the bat to judge balls and strikes; Smith out short to first; Brodie singled to centre, Levy singled to right and went to second on throw home. Hallman pulled himself out by fanning Sharp.

Fifth—Streaser first up, drew a pass, McKernan singled to left with none down; Johnston forced Streaser at third; Galvin hit to Smith and Johnson was out at second, while McKernan scored on bad throw to first for double; Hallman was out short to first. Wilmington: Jayes out second to first; Kite and Ashton, third to first.

Sixth—Lohr out short to first; Guerrant out hit by fairly battled ball, Clemens singled to centre; Shumaker out short to first. Wilmington: Hemp out second to first; Nichols flew to left, Smith walked, but was caught at second.

Seventh—Streaser out short to first; McKernan, third to first. Johnson, short to first, brilliant fielding by Hemp. Wilmington: Brodie walked; Levy popped out to catcher; Sharp forced Brodie at second; Jayes fanned.

Eighth—Galvin out, third to first; Hallman popped out to third; Lohr hit to first too hot to handle, Guerrant out third to first. Wilmington: Kite fanned; Ashton was hit by a pitched ball; Hemp flew to second and Ashton was doubled at first.

Ninth—Clemens led off with a two-base hit to right, Schumaker hit to first who threw to third but Clemens was safe, Streaser up and Clemens was safe at home on error Kite; Streaser flew to Hemp and Schumaker was doubled at second; McKernan out to pitcher unassisted. Wilmington: Nichols started Wilmington's last chance by fanning; Smith out third to first; Brodie out second to first.

SOME TARIFF EXPOSURES.

The Raleigh News and Observer remarks:

"People have generally lost sight of the fact that the Aldrich tariff provides for an issue of $150,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness. Leader Champ Clark truly says 'it should be called a bill to borrow money rather than a bill to raise revenue.'"

The Republican steerers in the Senate knew that the Dingley tariff rates were so high that they did not raise enough revenue for the Government. The deficiency created under it, according to the Treasury statistics a few days ago, is at least $100,000,000. As the Aldrich tariff bill is still more prohibitive of imports and therefore less productive of revenue, Senator Aldrich was fully aware that it would create another big deficiency. Hence the provision in his bill to issue certificates of indebtedness. Also hence President Taft's plan to place a tax of two per cent. on the net incomes of corporations.

Republicans have tried to make voters believe that their protective system makes European exports furnish our revenues. Now they give away the game by issuing certificates of indebtedness and taxing home corporations, thus proving that a high tariff does not and never did make European trade pay our Government's expenses.

The exposure is complete enough to convince a man with a noggin moulded out of concrete.

THE SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY.

The Star has received the July number of the South Atlantic Quarterly, published at Trinity College, N. C. This is a strictly North Carolina magazine and its standard is not excelled by any literary periodical in America. It is edited with conspicuous ability and its pages illustrate a tone of fine scholarship that marks it as a production of superior quality.

Some idea of the delectable feast embraced in the table of contents may be had when it is stated that among the contributions are the following: "Working for the Common Good—Rural and City Improvement in the South," by William H. Glasson; "A Yankee in the Piedmont," by Caroline H. Taylor; "North Carolina's Priority in the Demand for Independence," by R. D. W. Connor; "Two Studies in Southern Biography," by William K. Boyd. There are other articles of equal merit, while the book review is a most admirable and interesting feature. Altogether "The South Atlantic Quarterly" is distinctly meritorious. Address, Durham, N. C.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

The July number of the American Review of Reviews is on our table. For the reader it is only necessary to note that this great magizine is ready for his entertainment and edification, for it is known all over the Republic as one of the ablest and most comprehensive publications of this country. The Review of Reviews is a progressive educational institution, for each number records the leading events of the times and discusses the vital questions as they are brought to the fore in the world. Among the leading articles for July are "Affairs at Washington," "Alaska of Today—Our Richest Dependency," "How the Railroads Serve the Northwest." "The Playgrounds of the Nation," "Europe's Naval Craze," "Edward Everett Hale," "The Centenary of Oliver Wendell Holmes," and others. The miscellaneous articles are numerous, and when the reader finishes this magazine he is fully abreast with the world's current events and topics. Address "The Review of Reviews," 13 Astor Place, New York.

EDITORS LIVING IN THE PAST.

This we get from the Charlotte Chronicle:

"When the old blue-back spelling book of Noah Webster, a volume that had a sale second to the Holy Bible only, was a text-book in every American primary school, the pupils were much more accomplished spellers than they are under the new fad of 'intensive education,' says the Washington Post. This The Richmond News-Leader thinks 'is a shot not far wide of the mark.' We are glad to see these endorsements of the old blue-back from such high sources. The scholar who got his education from Noah Webster will be very generally found at the head of the class."

It positively is strange that editors will indite themselves by writing such stuff as the above, not that every word said by the Post, the News-Leader and the Chronicle is more or less true, but that it is such a give-away for the three writers. It shows that they are old and simply living in the past. No editor should give himself away like that. The three editors who have put their foot in it should come to Wilmington and get rejuvenated, forget that they ever had a past and enjoy themselves at Gay Lumina—or go fishing.

NORTH CAROLINA PAPER MILL.

One of the signs that one of the new industries in Eastern North Carolina is succeeding is the announcement in the Manufacturers' Record that the Carolina Paper Pulp Company, of Newbern, expects to expend $350,000 for plant improvements and extensions.

The company will erect three or four large buildings, probably of steel construction or concrete and steel, one mile of railroad siding to connect with the N. &. S. Railroad, and build about 400 yards of wharf to give deep water shipping connection, plant being located on the river front. There will be installed machinery sufficient to make 30 tons of unbleached wood pulp per day—soda process. Bids will be invited for the construction noted above. All improvements and construction are under the supervision of Frank McChesney, lately of the Radnor Mills of Elkton, Md.

It is easy to have a "full dinner pail" in Eastern North Carolina where the climate suits the growth of early vegetables and the land is generous in its production of an infinite variety of crops. It beats dependence on a Republican tariff.

"President Taft's tax on corporations is no joke" declares an Administration organ. We dispute that in behalf of Mark Twain who is bound to consider it a joke on him for having himself incorporated.

Senator Aldrich's easy and ready control of the majority in the Senate shows that they have long ago talked it over and been tagged for the programme.

Get in the push. Be a bragger, blower, booster and boomer for your town. If you are a knocker be a man and kick yourself for being an "undesirable citizen."

The Cash primay law in Florida forbids the use of cash in political campaigns. Such a law as that will make a lot of Florida men think it's not worth while to vote in the primary.

All kickers should be reminded that with a higher tariff tax on shoes they can't even afford to kick. Kicking is a blow to economy.

The Philadelphia Evening Times speaks of "Mrs. Gould's type." Oh, but we don't need any display type like that.

During hot weather like this "father" has the satisfaction of seeing the others show signs of wanting to "sit around all day."

Be industrious, be enterprising, be good, then you'll be happy and make somebody else happy.

The time will soon be here for Congress to adjourn, Watch Taft smile grow.

The hot wave will please waver.

—No city can afford to be so economical as to have anything short of the very best possible sanitary conditions.—Winston-Salem Sentinel.

—Congressman Claude Kitchin has so well "hued to the line" that he is a peer among Democrats and the Southerner expects a public building at the next regular session of Congress for Tarboro.—Tarboro Southerner.

—Judge Parker says the corporation tax is a trick. Well, so is the whole Aldrich tariff revision. Barnum said, the American people "love to be humbugged." It will be seen later whether they like to be "tricked."—Raleigh News and Observer.

—The experience of Mr. Reuben Barbee, of Durham, who has been in the Durham jail several months charged with a capital crime to which another has confessed, proves once more the value of a good name when trouble comes along—Salisbury Post.

—Wilson county is also getting a good deal of valuable advertisement from its public roads. A party of visitors from Washington, N. C., were here today inspecting them and committees from other cities and towns have often before come here to look at them. In the matter of good roads Wilson stands in the eastern part of the State like Mecklenburg county stands in the western part. Strangers compliment our roads very highly and of course talk of them when they leave. In a few years from now it is probable that all the leading roads in the county will be macadamized.—Wilson Times.

—Congressman H. L. Godwin has announced his candidacy for renomination for Congress. Mr. Godwin is only about two days behind Mr. Bryan in coming out. However, Mr. Godwin has made a good record and has worked hard for his district. He has secured a public building for Fayetteville, a $300,000 custom house for Wilmington and $460,000 for Cape Fear river improvements. If renominated he will attempt to get through Congress a bill for the establishment of a national park at Fort Fisher, below Wilmington, and an eight-foot river channel to Fayetteville. We wouldn't be surprised if this hard worker was not permitted to return to Washington. His record seems to warrant another term.—Wilson Times.

—"Oh, what a tangled web we weave," said the apt quotationist, "when first we practice to deceive." "That's right," answered Senator Sorghum; "deception is mighty dangerous unless one has had a great deal of experience."—Washington Star.

THE OIL INSPECTION LAW

Suit Brought Against Board of Agriculture to Prevent Its Enforcement—Gattis Pary Off. Affairs Municipally.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 3.—The Red "C." Oil Co., Maryland, instituted suit today against the Board of Agriculture to prevent the enforcement of the State illuminating oil inspection act, alleging the act to be for revenue rather than in the exercise of police power and confiscatory in that not less than $20,000 revenue over the expense of inspection will be derived from it, the operation of the act being illegal, oppressive, confiscatory and in violation of the 14th amendment of the Federal constitution.

The hearing will be August 2, in the United States Circuit Court, and an injunction against the enforcement of the act will be asked at that time. All independent companies are understood to be parties to the suit and the complainant alleges that the North Carolina act is really in the interest of the Standard Co.

The splendid Seaboard Air Line special train for the tour around the continent to the Pacific Coast, personally conducted by C. H. Gattis, district passenger agent here, left Raleigh this afternoon with 140 passengers, to return August 7th.

Wilmingtonians in the party are R. R. Bridgers, H. E. Longley, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rehder and William Rehder, Joe Schad and T. H. Wright. The special train is one of the handsomest ever run out of this State comprising the best type of Pullmans, single and double drawing room sleepers, compartment and observation cars and diner. Mrs. Gattis is the chaperone.

J. W. Bailey, former editor of the Biblical Recorder, made a public apology in the police court today for having last night in a speech before the Board of Aldermen in defense of Capt. Winchester and wife, American Salvation Army workers, declared that in electing J. S. Wynne mayor the people did not put into his hands the keys to the Kingdom of Heaven, nor did they in choosing Alex Stronach police justice mean to create a second Pontias Pilate. Leading up to this apology Justice Stronach, in dismissing the case against the Winchesters for preaching on the streets in defiance of the order of the Mayor, told their counsel, Mr. Bailey, that carried away with the sweetness of his own eloquence, he had, in likening him to the odious Biblical character, Pontius Pilate, laid aside the more subtile implement of warfare, the pen, for that used by Sampson of old. In his apology Mr. Bailey said that his reference to the Mayor and the police justice was at a time when he was especially wrought up in the interest of his clients.

A sequel to the arrest and acquittal of J. Sherwood Upchurch, member of the Board of Aldermen, on the charge of cursing on the streets is a suit just docketed in which Upchurch asks damages from Aldermen George L. Womble and E. D. Peebles, for malicious prosecution. He has retained W. C. Douglass, W. L. Watson and Bart Gatling as counsel. The complaint is not filed and the amount of damage to be demanded cannot be ascertained at this time.

HAVE YOU KIDNEY TROUBLE?

One or more of the following symptoms may indicate that you have; sharp shooting pains in the small of the back and loins, cloudy or smoky urine, whittish or reddish sediment in urine, too scanty, highly colored urine, bloody urine, too frequently desires, scalding or smarting pains in passing, irregular heart action, puffiness under the eyes, nervousness, restlessness, general debility, swelling of the lower limbs, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, gravel, etc. Rydale's Kidney Remedy is guaranteed to quickly relieve and permanently cure all forms of Kidney, Bladder and Urinary diseases. Sold and guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

Every purchaser at Baxter's is in line for handsome $600 piano soon to be given away there. Ask about it. **

SHALLOTTE CONNFERENCE.

Held Yesterday at Village Church—Organize New Epworth Leagues.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Shallotte, N. C., July 3.—The third Quarterly Conference for Shallotte Circuit was held today at Village church, Rev. W. L. Cuninggim, presiding. The reports from the various churches are encouraging and show an increased interest in all lines of church activities. It is very probable that three more Epworth Leagues will be organized within the next two months. Since January 1st, three mission Sunday Schools have been organized in some of our unoccupied communities. Two of the three schools meet in small day school buildings, and the other is held in an old dwelling. Rev. T. C. Ellers, the pastor, is conducting a two-weeks meeting at the Methodist church here, and there appears to be considerable interest in the services.

On Tuesday, July 6th, the Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold their annual picnic here, and it is being looked forward to by members of that order and their friends with a great deal of interest. Besides plenty of something good to eat there will be an interesting programme of games, races and other pleasant amusement. Mr. J. H. Stanley will be master of ceremonies and he is a master at that business.

Most of the crops in this section are laid by. A few, however, find it too dry to plow their crops. With a few good rains the crop prospects would be the best in these parts in several years.

Tortured on a Horse.

"For ten years I couldn't ride a horse without being in torture from piles," writes L. S. Naple.., of Rugless, Ky., "when all doctors and other remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me." Infallible for Piles, Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Boils, Fever Sores, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Corns. 25c. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

See Rehder's for fireworks, wholesale and retail. **

A NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL.

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box R, Notre Dame, Ind.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States, for the Eastern District of North Carolina. In the matter of J. W. Davis, Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy. To the Honorable H. G. Connor, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of North Carolina: At Wilmington, in said district, on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1909, now comes J. W. Davis, the above named bankrupt, and respectfully represents to the court that, after he had been examined in open court at a meeting of the creditors and had filed in court a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors, as required by law, he offered terms of composition to his creditors, which terms have been accepted in writing by a majority in number of all creditors whose claims have been allowed, which number represents a majority in amount of such claims; that the consideration to be paid by the bankrupt to his creditors, the money necessary to pay all debts which have priority, and the cost of the proceedings, amounting in all to the sum of $1,770.55, has been deposited, subject to the order of the Judge, in the Murchison National Bank, of Wilmington, a designated depository of money in bankruptcy cases. Wherefore the said J. W. Davis respectfully asks that the said composition may be confirmed by the court.

J. W. DAVIS, Bankrupt.

In the District Court of the United States, for the Eastern District of North Carolina—Fourth Division. In the matter of J. W. Davis, Invol. Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy. No. 150. An Application for the confirmation of the composition offered by the bankrupt having been filed in court, and it appearing that the composition has been accepted by a majority in number of creditors whose claims have been allowed and of such allowed claims; and the consideration and the money required by law to be deposited, having been deposited as ordered, in such place as was designated by the judge of said court, and subject to his order; and it also appearing that it is for the best interests of the creditors; and that the bankrupt has not been guilty of any of the acts or failed to perform any of the duties which would be a bar to his discharge, and that the offer and its acceptance are in good faith and have not been made or procured by any means, promises, or acts contrary to the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy: It is Ordered, that a creditors' meeting be called for July 13th, 1909, at Wilmington, N. C., U. S. Court Room, at 12 o'clock M., to consider the said application, and that a notice to show cause why said composition should not be confirmed, be mailed to all creditors of record and be published in The Star, a newspaper published in Wilmington, N. C. Witness the Honorable H. G. Connor, Judge of said court, and the seal thereof, at Wilmington, N. C., this 3rd day of July, A. D. 1909.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holt will be interested to learn that they moved to the beach on Friday last, where they have taken a cottage for the Summer. Mr. and Mrs. Holt have as their guest Miss Helen Dupre, of Spartanburg, S. C., whose presence will be welcomed on the beach, where she has a large number of friends.

The many friends of Miss Helen Dupre, of Spartanburg, S. C., will be delighted to learn that she arrived during the past week to visit Mrs. E. C. Holt, at her attractive home at Carolina Heights. Miss Dupre has visited Wilmington once before, and she is receiving a warm welcome from her large circle of friends in this city.

A delightful entertainment was given on Friday afternoon by Miss Lucianna Poisson complimentary to Miss Wheat, of Richmond, who is visiting Miss Christine Stevenson, and the Misses Howard, guests of Miss Sue Catlett, who are here to attend the Catlett-Hutson nuptials. The tea was of a most informal nature, but was greatly enjoyed by all of Miss Poisson's guests, about fifty in number.

The many friends of Mrs. Theodore Empie, Miss Virginia Bailey and Misses Jennie and Fannie Murchison will be interested to learn that they have engaged passage on the S. S. Columbia, of the Anchor Line, and that they will sail from New York on July 10th, for Glasgow, Scotland. After spending some time in the British Isles, they will make an extended tour of the Continent, being absent about four or five months.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the week was given by Miss Margaret Kingsbury on Thursday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Sophie Taylor, of Oxford, an attractive visitor to the city. The lawn and broad piazzas were prettily decorated with a number of Japanese lanterns, and the guests enjoyed a delightful evening. Delicious refreshments were served and the occasion is one that will be long remembered by all present.

Handsome invitations have been received by members of the North Carolina Bar Association to a complimentary ball which was given them on Friday evening last at the Battery Park Hotel in Asheville. The invitations are as follows:

The Asheville Bar Association
requests the honor of your presence at a Ball
Given complimentary to
The North Carolina Bar Association,
Battery Park Hotel,
Friday evening, July second,
nine o'clock.

Cards of admission were enclosed in the invitations. Several Wilmingtonians were among those present on this delightful occasion.

Miss Alice Reston Smith was the charming hostess on Thursday afternoon at a beautiful afternoon tea, given in honor of her guests, Miss Ashlyn Lowe, of Concord, Miss Jennie Woodruff, of Sumter, S. C., and Miss Wheat, of Richmond, Va., who is the guest of Miss Christine Stevenson. The broad piazzas as well as the lawn were artistically decorated with a number of Japanese parasols, lanterns, etc., as well as beautiful boughs of long leaf pine, which is so typical of the old North State. Miss Smith was assisted in receiving her guests by the guests of honor, Misses Jennie Woodruff, Ashlyn Lowe and Miss Wheat, while those who served were Misses Janette O'Neil, Athalia LeGrand, Eugie Woodruff, and Olivia Horne. Miss Duralde Borden gracefully presided at the punch bowl. There were about 40 guests present and a most delightful afternoon was spent by all present.

A delightful Pier trip was enjoyed by a number of young people on Wednesday when Miss Isabel Smallbones entertained in compliment to Miss Wheat, of Richmond, Va., who is the guest of Miss Christine Stevenson. The party left on the steamer Wilmington at 5:15 o'clock, returning to the city at 7:30. Refreshments were served on board and a most enjoyable time was spent by all of the guests. Those present were Mrs. Smallbones, Miss Isabel Smallbones, Miss Wheat, Miss Christine Stevenson, Misses Annette Munds, Luciana Poisson, Alice Reston Smith, Ashlyn Lowe, of Concord, Jennie Woodruff, of Sumter, S. C., Mildred Smith, Sophie Taylor, of Oxford, Marguerite Holladay, Fannie Murchison, Amoret Price, of Baltimore, Miss Amoret Lord and Misses Margaret Kingsbury, Louise Smallbones, Almeria Stevenson, Charlotte O'Neil and Rev. Much interest has been displayed in the tennis tourney at the San Souci Country Club, of Greenville, S. C., and it will be learned with interest in this city that Mr. Henry Clark Bridgers, of Tarboro, won the cup for the second time, defeating Mr. Mansfield 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3. In the morning the finals in men's doubles were played, those contesting being Messrs. Reed and Colwell, defeating Messrs. Mansfield and Orr. The ladies' singles were played in the morning, this being followed by the mixed doubles, when the trophy was carried off by Mr. Henry Clark Bridgers and Miss Mary Sloan. Miss Sloan now holds both the cups in the ladies' events as the "Champion of the Carolinas." Another strong and vigorous contest took place at this club during the past week when the handsome Smythe Golf Cup was won in the finals by our former townsman, Mr. George W. Brunson, editor and manager of the Greenville News, winning the same from Mr. Walter S. Griffin. A number of interested and enthusiastic spectators witnessed the finals, and when the 17th hole was reached a tie resulted, when excitement was at fever heat. Mr. Brunson won the 18th hole, giving him the victory with one up. Other matches were contested during the course of the afternoon, which Mrs. John M. Wright and three children, expect to leave Thursday for Swannanoa, N. C., where they will spend some time.

Mrs. William Taylor, of Columbia, S. C., and children, are spending some time with her aunts, Misses Eliza and Ellen Bellamy, at their home on Market street.

Miss Susie Belle Lamott left on Friday for Saluda, where she will spend the Fourth with her mother. Her friends in this city will be glad to learn, however, that she will return the first part of next week.

Among the out-of-town guests who will be present to attend the Catlett Hutson nuptials, which will take place on Tuesday of this week, are the Misses Howard, of Norfolk, Va., cousins of Miss Catlett, and Miss Lida Hutson, of Aiken, S. C., a sister of the groom-elect, and Messrs. Tom and Osborne Hutson, also of Aiken, brothers of the groom-elect. Lieutenant Edwards, of Fort Caswell, will also arrive to be present on this occasion.

Miss Carrie Sale Hardwick, delightfully entertained a few of her friends on Friday evening last, complimentary to the members of a marooning party which she recently attended at Wrightsville Beach. Cards were played and though a small and informal affair, it was greatly enjoyed by all present. The color scheme of pink was tastefully carried out in every detail. Those who partook of Miss Hardwick's hospitality were: Misses Isabel Smallbines, Theresa Parsely, Blanch Parsley, Mary Owen Green, Bessie Lodor, and Messrs. Tom Moore, Sidney Hunter, Reynolds, Rahm, Stalnaker, Ed. Bailey, DeHay, Ed Brown, Stevenson Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Reaves.

Washington, N. C., July 1.—At the home of Dr. Joshua Tayloe on Main street, this city, at four-thirty o'clock yesterday afternoon was solemnized a quiet but beautiful wedding ceremony when his sister, Miss Mary Olivia Tayloe, became the bride of Mr. Thomas William Pritchard, of Wilmington. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. Joshua Tayloe, of this city, and the ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Nathaniel Harding, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church, in the presence of only the immediate families of the contracting parties, there being no cards issued on account of a recent death in the family of the bride. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party left on the afternoon train for a wedding tour. Miss Tayloe is a daughter of the late Dr. David T. Tayloe, one of North Carolina's most prominent physicians, and one of Washington's most highly respected and beloved citizens, possessing many sweet and amiable traits of character that have won for her a large circle of friends not only in her home town, but all over the State. Mr. Pritchard is a well known and prominent young business man of Wilmington. After their wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard will reside in Wilmington. The bridal couple were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding presents attesting the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends.

Most unique invitations have been issued to friends during the past week by Miss Lydia Benita Post to an entertainment to be given on the night of Tuesday, July 6th, at their cottage on Wrightsville Sound. The invitations are in the nature of hand bills and read as follows:

Wrightsville Sound
Tuesday night, July 6th,
One night only, rain or shine.
TENPAW'S CIRCUS,
Its red wagon caravan carrying from sea to lake and from lake to Everglade the most Astounding array of Arenic Acts Ever Assembled.
See daily papers for the route of the Scintilating Street Parade.
Miss Lydia Benita Post
asks the pleasure of inviting you to be her guest at a performance of this circus on the above date at 8:30 o'clock P. M. in honor of Miss Eleanor Grainger McGrath,
Mr. Douglas McGrath.
Don't Miss the Side Show giving among other things wonderful performances of the Greatest Swimming Match in the World; the Red Bats of California; the Cruise of the Atlantic Fleet; the Largest Elephant in Captivity.

Don't forget Time and Place!

Chartered car will leave Front and Princess streets at 8:00 P. M., and returning leave Wrightsville at 11:30 P. M.

This entertainment promises to be one of the most amusing and delightful that has taken place this season, and much speculation is being indulged in by the guests as to the various forms of amusement.

Monroe, N. C., July 3.—The social event of the season here was the marriage at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian church, of Mr. Hugh M. McAllister, of Lumberton, and Miss Elise Ramsay, of Monroe. Rev. William Black, of Charlotte, officiated. Mrs. H. R. Laney played the wedding marches and just before the bridal party entered the church Miss Pitt, of Suffolk, Va., sweetly rendered a solo, "Proposal." The bridal party entered in the following order: Miss Alice Scales with Mr. Sandy McLeod, of Lumberton; Miss Pat Adams with Mr. James Proctor, of Lumberton; Miss Bessie McAllister, of Red Springs, with Mr. Baxter Ross, of Charlotte; Miss Lois Davidson, of Gibson, with Mr. Charles McAllister, of Lumberton. The bride came in with her brother-in-law, Mr. J. M. Fairley, Jr., and the groom with his best man, his brother, Mr. Alexander McAllister. Mrs. J. M. Fairley, Jr., was dame of honor and Miss Sarah Kernodle, of Graham, was maid of honor. The ushers were Messrs. C. M. Redfern, Thomas Moore, of Wilmington; Lewis Ashley, of Greensboro, and Wm. Boykin, of Charlotte. The ribbon carriers were Anna Bernard Benson, Marie Fletcher, Carlyle Williams and Alfred Hamer. The ring bearer was Pat Ashcraft. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Mr. McAllister is cashier of the First National Bank at Lumberton and is a fine business man and a popular gentleman. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Frances Ramsay. Her father was the late Dr. W. C. Ramsey. She was born and reared in Monroe and is a most attractive and accomplished lady. She is one of the State's best musicians, having completed her musical education in Germany and has had superior advantages and is endowed with extraordinary musical talent. For a number of years she has been teaching music in Elon College. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. McAllister left for a trip to Canada. The wedding presents were numerous and valuable. The gift of the groom to the bride was a fine piano.

VIGOROUS COTTON PLANT

Fine Specimen Sprouted From Last Year's Stalk Near Burgaw.

Mr. C. C. Bordeaux, of this city, returned yesterday from Burgaw, where he had been to purchase timber for the Chadbourn Sash, Door and Lumber Company. Mr. Bordeaux brought with him a vigorous cotton plant which sprouted from a last year's stalk on the farm of Mr. W. D. Casteen, on Burgaw Creek, five miles east of Burgaw, Pender county. The stalk was about 20 inches in length and contained one boll and two blooms and about 30 squares.

The second growth stalk was a beautiful specimen of the cotton plant and the fact that it grew out on a stalk of last year's production indicates the mildness of last Winter hereabouts. It came from a field near the Northeast river, on which Mr. Casteen last season had a beautiful crop of cotton till two floods came and almost laid it waste. The first was a running flood that entirely submerged the cotton plants, then about three feet in height. The second flood was from backwater from the river, and while the cotton in boll was greatly damaged, it nevertheless produced one-fourth of a crop. It was from a stalk in this flooded field that Mr. Bordeaux got the specimen. He says there are growing in the field, planted in another crop, however, about 30 fine plants which sprouted from last year's stalks.

DEATHS AT CLARKTON.

Mr. John W. Thompson Passed Away Friday—Sheriff Wooten Bereaved.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clarkton, N. C., July 3.—The death of Mr. John W. Thompson, a highly respected citizen, occurred at his home near Prong, Columbus county, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The deceased was 80 years old and had lived in the county all his life. He leaves one son, Rev. W. R. Thompson. The funeral will be held today at 3 o'clock.

S. G. Wooten, Jr., young son of ex-Sheriff and Mrs. S. G. Wooten, died last night at 7:30 o'clock. Much grief is felt in Clarkton over the loss of so promising a young man.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. THE WEEK AT LUMBERTON

Two Weeks Term of Court Begins Monday—Croatan Church Burned—New Boilers for Power Plant—News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., July 3.—A two weeks term of criminal court will convene Monday, Judge Lyon presiding. There are 25 or 30 prisoners in jail, two of whom are to be tried for their lives, one for murder and the other for assault. Besides those in jail, a great number of defendants are out on bond.

At the moving picture show last night several vaudeville acts were put on which were greatly enjoyed by a large audience. As many times as "Rubber Neck" has been heard here, some of the visitors last night lost their wits when two or three reports sounding like a pistol were heard in the gallery. While the song was old, many forgot that they had ever heard it before and made a break for the doors, going over seats, children and anything that might be in their way. When they got out and saw most of the crowd remaining they realized what "rubber neck" meant and a majority returned. The show last night was worth many times the price of admission charged. On Monday beginning at 3:30 P. M. the Passion Play will again be put on, many people having expressed a desire to see it repeated. For this the adminsion will be 10 and 15c. Other features will also be shown.

Messrs. Rudolph Carlyle S. F. Caldwell, Elwood Whaley and Richard Norment will leave Monday for Wrightsville Beach where they will spend two weeks fishing. They will carry a tent and camp.——Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ward, who were married in Smithfield a few weeks ago, will arrive this evening from Washington, D. C. to spend some time with relatives.

It is surprising that at the present price of hay, some one does not get busy with the fine crop of grass growing on the streets.——Some of the finest peaches offered on this market are coming in and sell rapidly at 10c per dozen——Buster Brown and his dog Tige entertained all the people that could crowd into the opera house Monday afternoon and Buster is said to have been very clever indeed.

The Lumberton and Dresden cotton mills closed Wednesday to give operatives the advantage of the excursion and many of them made the trip. They took Wednesday instead of Monday for the 4th. The National mill people are celebrating today. The banks will close Monday and holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice——Miss Laurette Trout, who has been in the millinery department of Caldwell & Carlyle's big department store the past two seasons, left for her home at Forest City Thursday. Miss Trout has made many friends here who hope that she will return in the Fall——Messrs. W. F. and John French and Frank McLeod and A. E Spivey attended the horse races at Dillon Thursday——Mr. W. W. Carlyle and family left Thursday for Golden, Rutherford county, to spend some time——Messrs. T. A. and Richard Norment attended the game of ball at Laurinburg Thursday which was played between the town and Wadesboro——Mr. C. B. Redmond had on sale yesterday the first home-grown watermelons of the season——Dr. John Knox and Messrs. McNeill & McNeill, attorneys, now occupy offices on the second floor of the handsome new cotton mill building. The third floor will be occupied by Unity Lodge, K. of P.

It has become necessary to add another messenger boy to the Western Union office and Gordon McMillan, son of Mr. H. McE. McMillan has taken the place——Messrs. French & McAllister, proprietors of the opera house, have improved the building very much.

The Croatan Methodist Church on the Saddle Tree road, six miles from town, was burned Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown but is supposed to have been incendiary. That was recently one of the churches served by Stephens, the missionary who left for other parts——People who visited Wilmington and the beach on the excursion Wednesday, declare the trip the most pleasant in every way ever made from here——Work was commenced yesterday by the Seaboard filling in around the station. The yard will be thoroughly cleaned off and filled in to prevent water from standing as has been the case for several years——Mr. Geo. M. Whitfield and daughter, Miss Jessie, spent Thursday in Laurinburg——Mrs. G. M. Floyd returned yesterday from Tomahawk where she has been visiting.

A new schedule goes into effect tomorrow on the Virginia and Carolina Southern, by which the passenger train will spend the night at Hope Mills instead of Lumberton. Trains will arrive from Hope Mills at 7:30 A. M. and 6:30 P. M., and will leave Lumberton at 9:30 A. M. and 8:40 P. M.——During a ride of ten miles through the country this week, we were delighted to see the fine prospects for good crops of all kinds. One of the best we saw was that of Mr. John E. Carlyle at Barker's Cut. Mr. Carlyle stated that his corn crop was the best he ever had and his cotton was as good as he ever had——Mr. Claud L. Baker has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be able to resume his duties superintending the building contracts he has on hand. His daughter, Miss Nellie, is still very sick with fever——We regret to report the sickness of Mr. John Gilmore, of the Freeman Printing Company.

The home of Mr. Everett Prevatt, three and one-half miles from town, on the Carthage road, was destroyed by fire Monday about 11 o'clock, the fire originating from a defective flue. The contents of the dwelling were mostly saved, but everything in the kitchen was lost. This was the old home of the late Rev. Forney Prevatt, a portion of which is said to have been erected about 85 years ago. There was no insurance on building or furniture——An excursion is advertised to be run from Hope Mills and Roslin to Lumberton Monday returning in the evening. It is supposed that lovers of baseball will have somewhere to go during the day——The family of Mr. A. W. Peace, cashier of the Bank of Lumberton, have arrived and are living in the house vacated a few days ago by Mr. A. T. Parmele, who removed to his new residence——"A Rabbit's Foot," comedy and musical show, is billed for Lumberton on the 10th. This is a colored aggregation, traveling in its own car and showing under canvas. The show has visited here before.

The new boilers recently ordered for the power plant have arrived and will be installed as quickly as possible——G. W. McQueen, Lumberton's veteran colored barber, is today celebrating his 70th birthday, and is shaving and cutting hair, same as the younger barbers. Long live George Washington McQueen.

LOCAL DOTS.

—An error in the headlines over the story of the Recorder's Court in yesterday's paper made it appear that Boy Mitchell, colored, instead of Joe Doe was tried for attempt at criminal assault.

—The Scottish Rite Quartette of Charlotte will sing at the First Baptist Church at the morning service today. Prof R. L. Keesler, organist and director of the quartette, will preside at the organ.

—Captain T. D. Meares, clerk of the Board of Audit and Finance, has received from Tax-Lister Bunting the tax lists for the City of Wilmington and has already begun transcribing them to the tax books. It will require considerable time to complete the work.

—By deed filed for record yesterday W. M. Cherry transferred to W. J. Moore, for $5 and other considerations, 24 1-2 acres of land on west side of railroad in Cape Fear township, adjoining lands of W. J. Y. Thurston, O. M. Fillyaw and others.

—Special services will be held at St. Matthew's English Lutheran church today. Holy communion will be held at the morning service and a special sermon will be preached at the evening service on "America's Responsibility." Public is cordially invited to all services.

—A game of baseball was played yesterday afternoon at East Wilmington, between a team at that place and Masonboro, the result being a victory for the former by the score of 8 to 6. The batteries were Buck and Williams for East Wilmington, and Farrow and Stokley for Masonboro.

—A civil action entitled Charles Borkenhagen against J. H. Hayden and O. D. Holmes for the non-delivery and detention of a sail boat which the plaintiff sold the defendants and on which it is claimed that he hold a mortgage for $40, the amount yet due, was started in Justice Bornemann's court yesterday. The case will be tried Tuesday.

CASES BEFORE RECORDER.

Rather Lengthy Session of Court Yesterday Morning.

The Recorder held a somewhat lengthy and rather interesting session of his court yesterday morning. Two interesting forcible trespass cases, sent up from Justice Harriss' court were tried, the defendants being Capt. Thos. McGee and Mark Winner. The latter was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Capt. J. W. Harper, who alleged that the defendant trespassed on his property at Carolina Beach. Mrs. Sarah Winner swore out the warrant against McGee for trespassing on her property at the beach. The case against McGee was dismissed, but Winner was fined $10 and taxed with the costs, from which decision he appealed, being placed under an appearance bond of $50.

John Hollingsworth, a small negro youth, was arraigned on the charge of stealing a quantity of solder and brass from the Tidewater Power Company. The law firm of McRae & McRae appeared for the power company. Owing to the tender age of the boy the action was dismissed upon the payment of the costs and the father's promise to do the thrashing stunt. Susan Haywood, Mittie Forbes and Josephine Everett, all colored, were found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined $5 each and taxed with the costs. J. E. Shaw, a white man, submitted to a charge of drunkenness and judgment was suspended upon the payment of the costs. A case against Julius Brown, charged with receiving stolen property knowing it to have been stolen, was dismissed. Walter P. Gafford, Esq., appeared for the defendant and William M. Bellamy, Esq., for the State.

Alfred Pea, colored, was tried on the charge of stealing an overcoat from his father, and at the request of the defendant's father the case was dropped upon the payment of the costs with the understanding that he was to return the coat.

FOURTH OF JULY.

General Celebration of the Day on Monday—At the Beaches.

There will be a general celebration of the Glorious Fourth in Wilmington and at her seaside resorts on Monday. In the morning at Wrightsville Beach the annual regatta of the Carolina Yacht Club will be sailed, reference to which is made elsewhere in today's paper, and in the afternoon there will be a series of aquatic and athletic sports, beginning at 3 o'clock, at Lumina, the programme having already been announced.

The holiday will be none the less generally observed at Carolina Beach, the observance there being in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church. There will be four boats during the day with a late trip returning at night. Music and other features will be provided and a great day is assured. Hundreds will also take advantage of the fine schedule on the steamer Wilmington to visit Southport where the Boys' Brigade is in camp. The transportation lines have made unusually fine preparations for handling the crowds and a "great day" is assured.

There will be a general suspension of business in the city during the day and at the postoffice holiday hours will be observed, there being only one delivery and collection by the carriers. Many who do not leave early for the beaches will assemble at Struthers' to get the baseball results from Fayetteville, the morning game being called at 10 o'clock.

Fine Sport at the Rocks.

Mr. H. E. Goodwyn came up yesterday from the "Rocks" where he has been several days with a fishing party composed of himself, Messrs. R. H. Pickett, Roger Moore and D. H. Ray. He reports great sport. Other members of the party will remain at the "Rocks" a few days longer.

Columbia orchestra will be at Carolina Beach July 5th. **

Raleigh Gone Wild.

Raleigh, July 3.—With winning two games with Wilson this afternoon Raleigh fans are wild with joy tonight. They met the team on the 9:30 special train from Wilson with a brass band and special street cars and with Mayor Wynne as master of ceremonies traversed the entire street car line of the city, receiving ovations all along the line.

Pitcher's Battle at Rocky Mount.

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 3—Today's pitchers' battle was all in Waymack's favor. A single after two were down in the seventh broke it up, scoring the only run of the game, giving the Railroaders the victory over Goldsboro. Score:

Raleigh Goes Head.

Wilson, N. C., July 3.—The Red Birds pecked all kinds of holes in the Tobacconists this afternoon. They just simply outclassed the locals, who played in the hardest kind of luck. Three hundred fans and fannettes came over from Raleigh with bands around their hats reading "Raleigh, I reckon" and Wilsonites reckoned the same way too for the visitors took both games. Score:

SNIFFLES.

Hoo-dooed!

On to Fayetteville Monday!

From now on we're going to wear amulets on Saturdays.

Wilmington didn't make an error right up to the shank of the afternoon.

Wasn't it awful when Kite dropped the pellet and let in Run No. 2 in the 9th?

When the next market day rolls around, the Sailors should not forget to touch wood, and carry their rabbits' feet into the fray.

Ducky Hemp played the ball of his life yesterday. Accepted every chance anyways threatening his position, and didn't make an error.

What's the matter with Ashton? He's all right! He only lost the game through tough luck that wasn't chargeable to his service.

Hallman had the speed, and except for trying to break into the umpiring now and then, had the Sailors under hack throughout the nine sessions.

Kelly, Rex, seemed to have a bum eye for balls and strikes, but His Majesty will soon get his optics in line and make a good indicator-handler.

They seem to have stopped dishing out transfers on the old dummy cars en route homeward from the ball grounds. How about this, Mister Tidewater?

Kite was decidedly off in his wing work and didn't stifle a man at the pivotal sack. Come on, Bert, let's practice up a little in shooting them across.

The Highlander Maskman was some sort of Luminary when it came to line pegging, and not a one of the Jack Tars was successful at the larceny game.

A few feet more and that long one Capt. Dick hoisted into deep left in the first would have been a homer. By quick work on the Fayetteville's gardener's part he was flagged at second.

Fayetteville's first tally was scored through a little mute work in attempting a double from second to first on Smith's stop and throw, and Dick can't very well charge this to anyone but himself in engineering the move.

Did you see Hemp rope in Streaser's grass-cutter just over station 2, retiring the last named; and follow it up in the same inning with a knockdown at the same location which he retrieved and caught the runner at first?

Doubleheader at Fayetteville Monday, arrangements for one game here having fallen through. It'll be just as interesting though to watch the electric diamond at Struthers'. The morning game will be called at 10 A. M. and the afternoon game at 3 P. M. Admission only 15c. All the bugs will be there.

Penick, the Amherst shortstop, signed by Manager Gwaltney, has returned his transportation and declines to join the Sailors for the reason that his team-mate, Henry, cannot come South on account of a broken thumb. They ask for a cancellation of their contracts held with Manager Gwaltney, but the local manager has written, "Nay, Nay, Pauline."

It's time the Grand Stand tumbled to the fact that the soft pedal ought to be applied when a critical moment is trumps, and a rally imminent, instead of that continual hand clapping and shouting. Haven't seen it rattle anybody but the local batter yet. They started it again yesterday, and as soon as the bell over the players' bench clanged we wildly crossed our fingers, but it was no use; 'twas all off. Get next to this hunch, and respect the Sailors' nerves.

Remnant Sale

This sale will offer a great opportunity to the trading public. After our very successful Mill End Sale we find quite a lot of remnants, odds and ends which we must close out, and we put the knife deeper, and the price will be almost a matter of nothing. Every visitor to this sale will be a customer. The bargains will be so tempting. We have not the space for price here, but will take pleasure in showing you. Come and see.

BURIAL OF INFANTS.

No Developments of Consequence In Case Yesterday—An Arrest.

There were no developments of consequence yesterday in the case of the finding of the bodies of the four infants buried on Point Peter, discovery of which was made Friday. A warrant was sworn out yesterday and served upon Alex. Davis, the colored undertaker on North Fourth street, charging him with making an interment without a burial certificate but he claims that he had a death certificate from a practicing physician, though admitting that one of his men had buried a white child in the colored cemetery. The child seems to have been one born to a young woman from the country, death having resulted from natural causes, and the only semblance of crime lies, if proved, in the fact that the interment was without a certificate. There will be no session of the Recorder's Court on Monday on account of the holiday, therefore the case against Davis and another against his helper, will go over until Tuesday. Chief Williams has delegated Patrolman Rouse on the case and the interment of the bodies across the river is still being investigated.

MEET IN CHARLOTTE.

Annual Convention of Rural Letter Carriers' Association.

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Rural Letter Carriers' Association, which will be held in Charlotte tomorrow and Tuesday, will be attended by a large delegation of carriers from the eastern part of the State. The address of welcome will be delivered Monday morning by Mayor T. W. Hawkins, of Charlotte, and will be responded to by Mr. Thomas V. Howell. The afternoon session will be devoted to reports of officers and memorial services, following which the visitors will be given an automobile ride about the Queen City. An attractive programme has been arranged for the night session and several addresses will be delivered. Tuesday will be taken up with routine work, reports of committees, new business, election of officers and the selection of the next meeting place and the State organ.

VETERINARIANS RETURN HOME

Next Annual Gathering to Be Held in Greensboro—Interesting Papers Read—Dr. T. B. Carroll Acts The Host.

The eighth annual meeting of the North Carolina Veterinary Medical Association, which has been in session at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, since Friday morning, adjourned yesterday afternoon and the delegates left on the afternoon and evening trains for their homes. The meeting was the largest attended in the history of the association and the greatest interest was manifested in each subject brought up for discussion.

The meeting yesterday morning was called to order at 9 o'clock by Dr. G. A. Roberts, of Raleigh, president, and Secretary Adam Fisher, of Charlotte, was at his post. Dr. W. J. Ragland, of Salisbury, was elected a member of the association, and Dr. G. E. Fetter, a United States inspector, was elected honorary member. Both Greensboro and Monroe asked for the next meeting of the association and Greensboro was selected.

The following interesting papers were read and discussed, some at the morning and others in the afternoon: "Milk and Its Peculiarities," Dr. W. G. Chrisman, Raleigh; "Production of Hog Cholera Serum," Dr. G. A. Roberts, Raleigh; "Serum-Therapy," Dr. L. J. Herring, Raleigh; "Efficiency of the Tuberculin Test," Dr. J. W. Hartman, Raleigh; "Laws Regulating Practice of Veterinary Medicine in North Caroline," Dr. Adam Fisher, Charlotte; "Glanders," Dr. J. W. Petty, Durham; "Lameness and Horseshoeing," Dr. Watt Ashcraft, Monroe.

After the adjournment of the convention Dr. T. B. Carroll was host at an enjoyable automobile ride to Castle Haynes. There were 10 in the party and two cars were used. Returning to the city late in the afternoon the visitors were the guests of Dr. Carroll for a trip to the beach and return. Practically all of the visitors left the city on the afternoon and evening trains. The visitors were loud in their praise of the way they were cared for at the beach and the courtesies extended by Dr. Carroll and they were delighted with the popular resort.

ANOTHER BIG WAREHOUSE.

Third Will be Erected Here to Take Care of Seaboard Business.

It is announced that a third big storage warehouse has been decided upon as a part of the extensive terminal improvements now in progress by the Seaboard Air Line here, work on the same to be commenced as soon as the other two are well under way, the three giving the road warehouse capacity for between 75,000 and 100,000 tons of freight. The third warehouse was decided upon recently upon report of Chief Engineer W. L. Seddon, who spent several days here looking over the situation.

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

Miss Tromperter, Expert Masseuse, In Charge of Orton Parlors.

The ladies of the city and seaside resorts will be interested to know that the handsome tonsorial parlors at The Orton are now open and are equipped with the most up-to-date hygienic and sanitary appliances, and that Miss Tromperter, of Cincinnati, a skilled masseuse, has been engaged and is prepared to do massage, manicuring, shampooing and hair dressing. Engagements for her services may be made by calling 'phone 1603 or at the parlors of The Orton.

Rev. L. R. Pruett at Southside.

Pastor Martin is pleased to announce that Rev. L. R. Pruett, who is spending some time at Wrightsville Beach, has consented to preach for him at Southside this evening at 8:15 o'clock. For about fifteen years Dr. Pruett has been pastor of the Ninth Avenue Baptist church of Charlotte where he has done a great work. He is a preacher of marked ability and will be heard with pleasure and profit tonight. Pastor Martin will preach this morning on "The Crisis of a Soul." A cordial welcome to all.

Coast Line Team Won.

A game of baseball was played yesterday afternoon at Hilton Park between the Castle Street Sluggers and the Coast Line Rattlers, which resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 16 to . The batteries were Taylor and Hatchell for the Coast Line and Bremer, Allen and Burriss for the opposing team. The Rattlers secured 16 hits, while the Sluggers secured only four. The feature of the game was the all around work of the Coast Line Rattlers.

The Ven. F. A. DeRosset at St. John's.

The many friends of the Ven. F. A. DeRosset will be glad to know that he will preach at St. John's church at the 11 o'clock service today. Though at present the Archdeacon of the diocese of Springfield, Rev. Mr. DeRosset is a native of Wilmington with a host of relatives and friends here, and all will appreciate the privilege of hearing him today.

Sees Mother Grow Young.

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure Liver and Kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50c at R. R. Bellamy's.

LETTER CARRIERS ARE HERE

North Carolina Association Will Assemble in Annual Session at Hibernian Hall Tomorrow—Short Meeting Today.

Delegates to attend the annual meeting of the North Carolina Letter Carriers' Association began arriving yesterday to be present at the sessions which will be in progress throughout Monday at Hibernian Hall, this city, followed by a social session at Wrightsville Beach in the afternoon. It is expected that representatives will be in attendance from the 18 cities in the State organization.

A preliminary meeting will be held this morning at 8 o'clock at the Hall. Secretary B. J. Summerrow, of Charlotte, will preside over the sessions, in the absence of the president, who recently resigned, and the vice president, who has removed from the State.

Among those who compose the advance guard are Secretary Summerrow and N. E. White, of Charlotte; F. P. and M. L. Troutman, of Statesville, and Messrs. Louis and Bernard, of Greensboro. The Letter Carriers will be the guests of the local branch of the Association.

The first actual session will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with the address of welcome by Postmaster T. E. Wallace. The response will be by one of the delegates and the remainder of this session will be consumed with routine business matters. The concluding session will be held in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when officers will be elected for the ensuing year and other general business disposed of.

PICNIC AT LAKE WACCAMAW.

Double-Header Baseball Game One of the Features of Day.

(By Telephone to The Star.)

Lake Waccamaw, N. C., July 3.—This has been a great day in the history of Lake Waccamaw. The picnic arranged by Editor T. L. Gantt, of the Whiteville News-Reporter, for his correspondents and any others who desired to attend, brought 1,500 people to this place and the day was most pleasantly spent by them. At 2 o'clock L. V. Grady, Esq., of Whiteville, delivered a splendid address from the pavilion and was listened to with keen interest. A double-header baseball game between Lake Waccamaw and Bolton was played and the local team was victorious in both contests, winning the first by a score of 26 to 5 and the second 10 to 0. In the first game Burkhead and Lewis were the batteries for Lake Waccamaw; Thorndike and Parker for Bolton; umpires, Council and Council. In the second Berry and King for Lake Waccamaw; Edward and Parker; Perry and Holton, umpires. The features of the game were Burkhead's twirling and Trust's work on first base.

Arrested for Gambling.

Patrolman Leon George yesterday afternoon arrested George Grady, colored, on the charge of gambling. The officer found six negroes in a strip of woods on Taylor street playing what is known as "skin" game. When flushed by the officer the negroes ran in all directions, but Grady was not lucky as the other five. A citizen reported to Mr. George that a crowd of negroes met in the woods every day and played cards and that some times they blocked the path which he had to travel on his way home. Shortly after returning to police headquarters Officer George lost a $20 bill from his pocket and it has not yet been recovered.

TAFT TO BE GRASS WIDOWER

Mrs. Taft Leaves For Summer Home in Massachusetts.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, D. C., July 3.—President and Mrs. Taft left Washington at 5:35 this afternoon for Beverly, Mass. For the next few weeks the White House will be known informally and unofficially as "Bachelor's Hall."

Mrs. Taft and the children will spend the Summer at Beverly. The President, after speaking at the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Norwich, Conn., on Monday, and participating in the tercentenary celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain, will return to Washington to await the adjournment of Congress. Then he will join Mrs. Taft for a few weeks at the "Summer White House."

In the Presidential party were Mrs. Louis T. Moore, of Cincinnati, a sister of Mrs. Taft, who will spend some time at Beverly, and Charles Taft. Assistant Secretary Mischler and two secret service men accompanied the President.

POTASH TRUST IN GERMANY.

All But One Mine Owner In Combine. The Syndicate.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Berlin, July 3.—With the exception of one man, all the members of the former potash syndicate, and some new ones, have signed a new mutually protective agreement. The exception is Waldemar Schmittmann, proprietor of the Sollestedt and Ascherleben mines, who in 1907 made contracts for a term of ten years. Herr Schmittmann is considering whether he will derive greater advantage from joining the syndicate or remaining independent.

The American agents have been offered various potash mines, but as the prices are unsatisfactory none of the negotiations has been brought to a conclusion.

President Taft yesterday nominated William R. Leaken for collector of customs, district of Savannah, Ga.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Party of Italians and Wilmington Delegation Inspect Colonies at St. Helena and Castle Haynes. Favorably Impressed.

Expressing themselves as being entirely satisfied with the conditions existing in the Castle Haynes and St. Helena colonies and declaring that the colonization project of the Carolina Trucking Development Co., has been established on a sure foundation, a distinguished party of Italians, representing prominent interests of New York, arrived in the city at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after having spent the forenoon on a tour of inspection of the colonies as guests of the company. The members of the party will be entertained by the development company until this evening when they return to New York.

The Wilmington delegation left the union station a few minutes before 8 o'clock on a special train furnished by the Atlantic Coast Line consisting of an engine, President T. M. Emerson's private car and one passenger coach. The special was in charge of Engineer George V. Benninghoff and Conductor Lucien Clifton. Owing to the press of business a number of prominent citizens of the city who had been invited were unable to accompany the party. Those on the special were Major E. W. Van C. Lucas, president of the Carolina Trucking Development Company; Mr. C. VanLeuven, second vice president; Mr. R. W. Sheppard, secretary; Mr. T. C. White, general passenger agent of the Coast Line; Mr. James H. Chadbourn, president North Carolina Waterways Association; Mr. J. A. Fountain, superintendent of this division of the Coast Line; and Rev. Father Dennen, who has supervision of the Catholic Church at St. Helena. Arriving at destination about 8:30 o'clock the delegation had to wait for a few minutes for the arrival of the southbound train which brought the distinguished Italian party, namely: G. Granata and Arthur Stefani, as official representatives of the New York Italian Chamber of Commerce; Felice Ferrero, a noted journalist, brother of William Ferrero, the historian, and New York correspondent for the leading newspapers in Italy, the principal one being the Evening Courier, Milan, and Father Cappo, head of the Church of Transfiguration in New York. It was generally regretted that Mr. Luigi Salari, president of the Chamber of Commerce, missed train connection in Philadelphia. Acompanying the prominent party were: Mr. M. F. H. Gouverneur, first vice president of the development company; Mr. N. C. Adossides, and Mr. W. J. Craig, passenger traffic manager of the Coast Line, who joined the party in Washington, where he had been on business for a few days.

The delegations were met at the station by Mr. Hugh Overstreet, superintendent of the colony, and Rev. Umbreto Donati, rector of the church there. After formally welcoming the party all were conducted to vehicles waiting and were carried over nearly all the colony, returning to the station at 11 o'clock. The Italian band was also at the station and rendered a selection upon the arrival of each delegation. In passing the musicians to take the conveyances, the visitors stopped to interrogate the members of the band as to conditions existing there. The inquiry was kept up over the entire trip, frequent stops being taken, and the visitors expressed themselves as being fully convinced that the company is working along the right lines. They found that with very few exceptions the colonists were happy and more contented than they ever were before and that it would take special inducements to move them to another place. They were favorably impressed with the rapid progress made since the first colony was planted a little more than three years ago. At that time there was nothing but forests and swamps on either side of the railroad track and extending back for miles. Today an area of more than two miles square in cleared and splendid trucking crops are raised by the colonists. It required much hard work to put the land in shape for cultivation and much of it was cleared by moonlight, so eager were the immigrants to begin raising a crop of their own. The policy of the company is to give the immigrants employment for three days in the week and the other three they devote to their own farms. The wages are very good for that class of work, $1.25 a day being paid.

One of the most interesting as well as one of the oldest of the colonists is Mr. Gininio Beto, low-built and gray haired, who came to this country with the first St. Helena settlers. Owing to his age Major Lucas had to go to New York and give a bond to prevent him from becoming a public charge. He is now one of the best-off of the poorer class, having paid a considerable sum on his place and very likely has money stored away for a rainy day. Judging from the expression of his countenance as he talked to the members of the party he is probably the happiest person in the colony. Although he has several grown children every work day finds him in his patches.

The party was shown a fine one-quarter acre of alfalfa, a forage with which the company has been experimenting for four years. It is very hard to grow in this section, but there are several nice patches in the various colonies. The patch in question had been mowed twice during the season and is good for two more cuttings. Besides the owner can graze his cow on the stubble all Winter. It is a money producing crop, four to five tons of hay being gathered to an acre.

The co-operative store and bakery systems made a very favorable impression upon the visitors as well as did the plan to aid one another in their crops.

Mr. Stefani said that considering the fact that the colony was only a little more than three years old the colonists had wrought a great transformation in the land, judging from the wilderness in the beginning as explained to him. He was of the opinion that there should be some manufactory for those seeking profitable employment immediately upon landing here. One thing that is arousing the Italians of New York is that statistics show an alarming death rate from consumption in the ranks of the immigrants who settle there, where business is so much congested. The expressions of the other members of the party did not differ materially from Mr. Stefani's remarks.

The delegation arrived at Castle Haynes a few minutes before 12 o'clock being met by Superintendent H. A. Rau and the following Wilmington citizens: President J. A. Taylor, of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. A. B. Skelding, general manager Tidewater Power Company, Mr. M. J. Heyer, president Southern National Bank; Mr. Geo. B. Elliott, general counsel of the Coast Line; Messrs. John Brown and D. L. Gore. Carriages and automobiles were in waiting. The party drove through the colony, which is made up of people from many Nations, in the carriages, returning to the superintendent's office, where they had luncheon, following which the return trip was made in automobiles, and the visitors had an opportunity to experience fast time on New Hanover roads.

The visitors were escorted to the home of Mr. Hugh MacRae on Market street, where lunch was served. In the afternoon the visitors were again the guests of the officers of the Carolina Trucking Development Company at Lumina. The party will be at Wrightsville Beach until this evening when they return to New York.

The members of the local delegation, many of whom had not visited the colonies in two years, were unprepared for the great improvements they saw, although the rapid progress has been heralded in the newspapers from time to time during that period.

SOCIETY SENSATION IN ATLANTA

Divorce Suit Follows Escapade of Young Wife.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Atlanta, Ga., July 3.—Just one week from the time of his discovery of his young wife in the room of his friend, P. N. Jobson today brought suit for divorce, naming as co-respondent Harry Wolford. Jobson followed his wife to Wolford's apartments last Saturday night. Either Wolford attempted to lower Mrs. Jobson into the alley three floors below or she jumped and was seriously injured and is still in the hospital. A rope of bed sheets which had broken, was found near Mrs. Jobson. Jobson asks the custody of two children. His wife is his first cousin and all are prominent in "first family" society.

WOMAN'S REMARKABLE HEROISM

Husband Killed She Took His Place to Watch Bridge.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Mobile, Ala., July 3.—The body of W. L. Samson, bridge keeper for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Bayou Sara, Ala., was buried here today. There has been revealed a story of the devotion of a woman to a railroad company by taking the care of many lives in her hands that has seldom been equalled.

Early Thursday night Samson was in his loft near the bridge when lightning killed him and threw his body into the water in front of his wife and little child. Mrs. Samson tried to save the body but it went down just as she was about to reach for it. She remained at the bridge all Thursday night and the greater part of Friday alone with her child, seeing that trains could safely pass over the structure. As it was not a stopping point she could not get assistance until today when she succeeded in flagging a train. Another watchman has been sent to the bridge.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.

Scientists has found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. Today the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown, of Alexander, Me., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." IN MEMORIAM.

Whereas, The All-wise God, in his inscrutable dealings with men, has seen fit to call from this life our beloved friend and brother, John D. Colwell, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of Local No. 25, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, of which organization our deceased brother was a loyal member, desire to convey to the griefstricken family our sincere sympathy in this sad hour of their bereavement, and, further,

Resolved, That in the lamented death of our late associate we feel that our Lodge has lost one of its most valuable members; one whose zeal never slackened, and whose faithfulness never slumbered,

Resolved, That in the faithful performance of his duties, and the quiet, unassuming manner in which he promptly discharged every obligation, he has left behind a rich legacy of fortitude and devotion which is worthy of our emulation, and, be it further

Resolved, That, while he passed from the active scenes of life into the sombre stillness of death at a tender age, just where the budding hour of youth blossoms into manhood's morning, when the rainbow of hope and joy spanned the arch of life's highway, yet we are devoutful thankful for a life which, while short, has impressed us with it's nobility of character.

Resolved, That we shall ever cherish, in memory's sweet confines, the sentiments of friendship and esteem which were characteristic of his daily walk and conversation.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Lodge; that a copy be sent to the famly of the deceased; and that a copy be sent to each, the Railway Clerk and the Wilmington Star for publication.

Grand Auction Sale

AND BARBECUE

Monday, July 19th, at 10:30 A. M., White Sulphur Springs, Mt. Airy, N. C.

On the above date we are going to sell at auction about one hundred choice residence lots at this famous health resort. These lots will be sold absolutely regardless of price to the highest bidder no matter what they bring. This will be a chance of a lifetime for the home seeker, speculator, or wise investor. A life time water right will be deeded to all purchasing lots. White Sulphur Springs is fast becoming one of the most popular watering places in Weston, N. C. Aside from being a pleasant place to spend the summer, a month's stay there is equal to a course in any sanitarium. It builds you up, makes a new man out of you. We are also going to sell the White Sulphur Springs Hotel and the tract of land on which it is located, containing about 150 acres. With this goes the power house, pool and billiard parlors, bowling alley, etc. The hotel is practically new, modern and up to date in every respect. 150 rooms, 30 rooms with private bath. This sale includes hotel and all furnishings, 150 acres of land, the famous White Sulphur Springs, good stables, with electric lights, in fact everything that goes to make up an attractive summer resort. Owner can give good reason for disposing of property. The hotel rents for $2,500.00 per year. Sale absolute. No strings attached. The lots and hotel are going to change hands and some one is going to profit by it. Why not you? Penny and Thomas Brothers, the four twins who manage our auctioneering departments, will conduct the sale. Penny Bros., the world famous twin auctioneers, will cry the sale, each speaking at the same time in the same tone of voice. We are going to have the greatest barbecue ever seen in North Carolina. Refreshments will be served free to everybody. We want the largest crowd that we have ever had at a sale. Keep this in mind and don't fail to be on hand. The property will be sold on very, very easy terms, and it is truly a golden opportunity. Don't forget the day, Monday; the date, July 19; the hour, 10:30 A. M.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Raeford Facts and Figures: Mr. Dew has contract to build a power house for the Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Montrose. Waterworks, electric lights and a sewerage system will be put in this Summer, and other buildings erected.

—Raeford Facts and Figures: An inserted sawtooth flew out of the saw at Carey L. Stephens' mill a few days ago, and struck a colored man on the forehead, entered, cutting out his eye and coming out on his cheek. The man will live, but it was a painful wound.

—Fayetteville, July 2.—Mr. P. A. Jones, the popular and efficient superintendent of the public schools here, has accepted the chair of Mathematics in the Virginia State Summer School being held at Virginia Beach. The school is fortunate in securing such an able instructor.

—Greenville, N. C., July 2.—June was a very wet month in this section, the total rainfall being 11.35 inches. The heaviest fall on any single day in the month was the 30th, when it reached 3 3-4 inches. Crops have suffered materially from the excessive rains.

—Raleigh News and Observer, July 3.—The L. Banks Holt Manufacturing Company has acquired the following cotton mill properties: Oneida Cotton Mills, Bellemont Cotton Mills, Alamance Cotton Mills, Carolina Cotton Mills, together with sundry real and personal properties formerly held by John C. Drewery, H. W. Scott and R. S. Mebane as trustees for L. Banks Holt.

—Greenville, N. C., July 2.—Prof. Robert H. Wright has been chosen president of the East Carolina Training School, and a complete corps of first class teachers has been associated with him. The school will be opened on Tuesday, October 5th, 1909, for the reception of students, and the president will be inaugurated on Thursday, the 7th day of October, 1909.

—Laurinburg Exchange: The Laurinburg Oil Company has just installed eight new eighty-saw air blast gins, thus increasing its ginning capacity about fifty per cent. The air blast gin is the newest thing out in cotton gins, and it is claimed that this system of handling cotton gives a much better sample than the old style of brush gins. These gins have no brushes, the cotton being taken from the saws by a current of air under high pressure from a specially constructed fan.

—Pender Chronicle, Burgaw: In the last few months, to say nothing of the numerous buildings erected and other improvements made, Burgaw has added an up-to-date brick plant, equipped with the most modern machinery and best make of dry kiln; is now installing an ice factory which will be able to furnish the surrounding town with "solid" comfort this hot weather; is putting in an electric lighting plant, which will fan you and light you; and in the near future the telephone girl is coming here to live. The new postoffice building is nearing completion and will fill a long felt want. We are coming.

—Statesville, July 2.—During a severe electric storm Wednesday afternoon lightning struck Mr. C. S. Tomlin's barn at his home on Davie avenue and damaged the building to the extent of about $150,, which is covered by insurance. About half of the front of the barn was torn out, but the building was not fired. Mr. William Sicelоff, who was walking along East Broad street, was so badly shocked by the lightning that he fell to the ground. He was not hurt, however, and feels no ill effects from the experience. Other persons in the community were slightly shocked.

—Durham, July 1.—Gen. J. S. Carr, Messrs J. S. Carr, Jr., Claiborne Carr and Maj. W. A. Guthrie returned today from Goldsboro, where the Goldsboro Knitting Mills were purchased by the Durham Hosiery Mill Company. This corporation now owns five mills, two in Durham, one in Chapel Hill, one in High Point and the fifth in Goldsboro. Each of the sons has a large factory and both father and boys are entirely devoted to the industry. The general has been philanthropist to them as to everybody else in the community. And they make good with what is before them.

—Columbia State, July 2.—Deputy Sheriff Julian McLaurin of Bennettsville was here yesterday to obtain requisition papers for Thomas Lacy, Alias Robert Kline, alias "Newark Toney." Lacy is now in the federal prison in Atlanta and his sentence of five years expires today. He was convicted in 1904 through the work of Inspector Gregory for robbing the postoffice at McColl. On the same night he broke into the mercantile establishment of E. N. Covington Company and also into the depot at McColl. The following night he broke into a warehouse in Darlington. He was tried first on the charge brought against him by the government and will now be tried in the State courts for the other cases. In each robbery safes were cracked and considerable money obtained. He will be brought to Columbia by Deputy W. H. Sondley and will be kept in the penitentiary until the October term of court at Bennettsville.

—Columbia Record: July 2. After a long fight extending over four months and a half, Senator Scarborough of Horry leading the fight for the people of Conway and others interested, the railroad commission has ordered the Coast Line to establish double daily unmixed passenger service between Chadbourn, N. C., and Conway, over that part of the line within the State of South Carolina. The order requires this to be done within thirty days, after which passenger service on the freight trains over that portion of the line must be discontinued. The railroad refused the commission's request to put on double daily service between Chadbourn and Conway, on the ground of economy, and the commission had no authority to force this, as this would be inter-State business. Now the commission has made the order for the South Carolina territory, hoping that it being carried out will induce the railroad company to extend this service on from the State line to Conway, there being now double daily service between Elrod, N. C., and Chadbourn.

—Newbern, July 2—One of the most extensive moonshine outfits was raided and destroyed here today that has yet been known in this section. The circumstances are not without exciting details. Deputy Collector J. E. Cameron and J. C. Meekins, with a posse of men, captured a still in operation near Bridgeton about two miles from here and also captured the owner of the place, Arthur Ipock. The still had a fifty gallon capacity. Ten fermenters were also destroyed. Two hundred gallons of beer were confiscated and destroyed. The usual paraphernalia was destroyed by the officers. Ipock broke away from the officers and came back at Deputy Collector Cameron with a double barreled shot gun, but he was chased into the bushes and disarmed. In the melee two or three shots were exchanged. Deputy Cameron was unharmed, and it is not known whether Ipock was wounded or not. Cameron had a very narrow escape. The beverage this still makes is not whiskey, but "monkey rum," which has just as exhilerating effect as the stronger and more carefully prepared liquors. A posse is scouring the country for Ipock and probably he will be captured within a few hours, as he is surrounded.

PLANS FOR CELEBRATION.

Large Crowd is Expected at Moore's Creek July 29th.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Currie, N. C., July 3.—At the annual meeting Wednesday of the Moore's Creek Battle Ground Association the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Jas. F. Moore; vice president, Dr. Geo. F. Lucas; honorary vice presidents, D. J. Corbett, J. S. Devane, E. A. Hawes, Sr.; secretary, E. E. Murphy; treasurer, W. M. Nunnellee; board of managers, A. C. Moore, A. C. Ward, J. E. Henry, M. M. Bullard and J. F. Simpson.

It was decided to have the annual celebration July 29th. The president was requested to see the passenger traffic manager of the Atlantic Coast Line and secure, if possible, a special train from Fayetteville to Currie on that date. There are hundreds of people in and around Fayetteville who are anxious to visit the battlefield and the special train as planned will afford a splendid opportunity for them to do so.

The managers expect an attendance of at least 5,000 people for the celebration. An attractive programme is being arranged and will be announced later.

GROWING STRAWWBERRIES

Planting, Mulching Important in Producing the Fruit.

(Christian Science Monitor.)

Planting strawberries is a bit of fine art. You cannot crowd them into the ground as you would cabbage plants, or thrust them down as rapidly as you do raspberries, but you must make a hole about half as large again as the roots of the plant, when spread out in all directions; in the centre of the hole let the dirt be mounded, so that when the plant is set on the top of that it will be a little higher than the level of the ground, says a writer in Outing Magazine.

Spread the roots over this and brush the hole half full of dirt; now crowd down tightly until the crown of the plant is exactly level with the soil: then fill the hole full of soil lightly pressed, and brush over the top dirt not pressed at all. The plant should now set exactly level with the surrounding dirt, and the reason for this is that the runners when starting should have nothing to hinder them.

The crowding down is an important matter with all plants, and the spread of the roots is vitally important with the strawberry. The loose dirt on top will serve as a mulch to retain moisture in the soil and gather it from the air. As soon as the bed is finished there should be a top dressing or mulch of fine, rich compost. I suppose that most of the planters would direct you to use commercial fertilizers. If you insist on doing this you will find directions in the bulletin of many of the experiment stations.

Irrigation is more essential for the strawberry than for any other member of the Rosaceae family. A small bed near the house can be attended to with little difficulty, but a small plot near the barn can often be watered with hose from the barn well. For a barge plot I believe that tile drains offer the best method. Distribute the water through the fields in pipes or troughs with small hose in them.

A stopcock should be provided to shut off the water or turn it on at pleasure. The tile should be deep enough to escape the cultivator and the plow—not less than two and a half feet below the surface. If water runs all the time you can block up the lower end when you wish to have it permeate the strawberry bed. Three-inch tile is about what you want. The strawberry is a great lover of water, and it not seldom happens that just as the crop is full of promise a few dry days ruin it.

If watered by hand a hole should be made by the side of each plant, and not less than a full quart of water poured slowly in, until the ground is saturated; then brush dry dirt over the hole to retain the moisture and prevent caking of the soil. One such watering will last three or four days. Sprinkling a strawberry bed does more harm than good, unless repeated every few hours. This plan is altogether too big a job for a large bed and I recommend that it be provided with underground tiles.

ANNUAL REGATTA OF CAROLINA YACHT CLUB

Will be Sailed Tomorrow Morning Over Eight-Mile Course at Wrightsville Beach—Handsome Prizes and Championship Pennant to be Awarded—Large Number of Entrants.

Of chief interest in yachting circles, among the number of events in celebration of the Glorious Fourth at Wrightsville Beach tomorrow, will be the annual regatta sailed over the regular club course of eight miles, beginning at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. This year more than the usual interest attaches to the race from the fact that the season marks the advent in the club fleet of a number of fine sailing craft of a new and distinctive type, these being known as Class A boats, very neat and trim in appearance and speedy. This type of boat is splendidly illustrated in the cut published in connection with this article of the Calypso, owned by Mr. E. Schulken, of the Atlantic Yacht Club. Although not one of the Carolina fleet the illustration gives an idea of these trim little cutters which will dot the course tomorrow morning.

THE CALYPSO.

The prizes this year are two very handsome silver loving cups, which are now on display in the window of Honnet, the jeweler, on Front street, a large one for first prize and the smaller one as a second prize. The regatta will also determine the possession of the championship flag now held by the Puzzle, which won it last season.

The nine Class A. Boats will have a flying start tomorrow at 9:30 A. M. and the entries by number are as follows: No. 62, Captain H. J. MacMillan; No. 62, Captain S. P. Cowan; No. 64, Captain C. W. Worth; No. 65, Captain Platt W. Davis; No. 66, Captain R. A. Parsley; No. 67, Captain B. H. Bridgers; No. 68, Captain J. VanB. Metts; No. 69, Captain T. P. Hammer and No. 70, Captain Nelson MacRae. The old veterans of the course will start on the second starting gun and they are as follows: Don Julian, Captain O. A. Wiggins; Puzzle, Captain E. A. Metts; Kayembee, Captain M. S. Willard; Gambol, Captain R. C. DeRosset, and the Ohukyd, Captain T. E. Brown.

The race promises to be quite interesting and will be the first in which all the club fleet has made its appearance. The yachts will be watched with keen interest by hundreds of admirers from the shore line and crowded along the club piers.

TO DEVELOP WATERWAYS

Representative Roberts Thinks Bond Issue the Only Feasible Plan for Great National Scheme. Visit Along Coast.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., July 3.—Representative Ernest W. Roberts, of the 7th Massachusetts district, who is serving his seventh consecutive term in Congress, is convinced that the only way in which to bring about a comprehensive development of the waterways of the country is by an issue of bonds to be used for internal waterway improvements. Mr. Roberts recently made a trip from Baltimore to Philadelphia by way of the Chesapeake Bay and the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal, which is a part of the project to connect Boston with Beaufort, N. C., and the Florida Keys by a system of canals and the use of natural waterways, the rivers, sounds and bays, making an intercoastal route free from the perils of the ocean and of Hatteras and shortening the distance between Boston and Key West by several hundred miles.

Having seen the possibility of this intercoastal route, a survey of which having been authorized by Congress, Mr. Roberts is impressed with the thought that posterity should bear its due proportion of the cost of improving the inland waterways of the United States, rather than assess the entire charge upon the present population.

"The more I see of the waters of the United States, particularly those immediately connected by either natural or artificial means in the New England, Middle and Atlantic Coast States, the more I am impressed with the work which the National Rivers and Harbors Congress is doing to bring about some comprehensive plan of waterway development. We cannot do anything unless there is back of a specific plan, means to accomplish the desired end. Piecemeal appropriations in Congress affecting the rivers, harbors and canals of the United States while inadequate are hardly the subject of criticism, but insufficient appropriations are really worse than no appropriations at all for the objects intended. I think we are in a position now to make the development of the waterways of the United States of very first importance and if the Treasury is short of current revenues enough to give us an adequate river and harbor bill each year we should not hesitate to authorize an issue of bonds sufficiently large to make the great natural thoroughfares of the country adequate to carry their due share of the country's commerce. I am not one of those who believe that waterways will lessen the tonnage transported by the railways. The railways even with the very best equipment it is possible to secure, must be handicapped in the face of large crops and excessive demands upon their traffic departments to move the freight along their lines and the waterways, if navigable, would relieve congestion and be actually an aid to the railways whose motive power might be taxed to the fullest extent.

"In recent years the size of our river and harbor bill has been determined not from the needs nor by any well defined plan to be worked out in waterway development, but by the amount we have left over in the Treasury when all the other appropriations for current expenses were made. The result has been that some years we have had appropriations for rivers and harbors but many more years we have had none. Sometimes three years have elapsed before a river and harbor bill has been passed and in very many cases the money expended on the improvements of certain streams has been completely wiped out because of the failure of Congress to appreciate the necessity of anchoring the work begun. That is neither good business nor good policy. No citizen in this day or age would handle his private affairs that way. He would finance his scheme, borrow the money, do his improvements under some sensible and comprehensive plan; get his project into operation and then, when his project was paying dividends he would pay for his business through a series of years. The United States has unlimited credit and can carry its loans cheaper than any borrowers in the world and there is no reasonable excuse for delaying its legitimate work, that of internal waterway development. For such a legitimate purpose government bonds should have no terrors for our people, especially when the money realized from their sale is to be utilized in the development of our natural resources.

"Internal waterway improvement is vital to the present, it will be even more vital to the future. I am for waterway bonds, just as I was for Panama Canal bonds. My personal opinion is that if we develop the internal water of the United States there will be a very much larger constituency to reap the benefit than through the building of the Panama Canal. One is a world proposition, the other is a proposition which concerns almost every citizen of our country; it concerns the producer, and the consumer, the manufacturer and the builder, and the sooner we vote these waterway bonds the sooner will the great projects, which have the endorsement of the Army Board of Engineers, be completed."

GILMORE'S NEW PLAY

Will be Seen Coming Season in The Candidate—Management.

"The play's the thing," said Shakespeare, and most every wise prophet of modern theatrical affairs agrees with the bard of Avon, but many go so far as to maintain that the merit of the play is really of first and paramount importance in every dramatic venture. The popular young romantice actor, Paul Gilmore, who has been making annual starring tours of America successfully for a decade, is so firm in this belief that he has just changed his management in order to secure a new play which he considered "the thing". Mr. Gilmore read the manuscript of this drama, called "The Candidate," and was so struck with its fitness for his use that he at once began negotiations to secure it, when he found that the well known manager, A. J. Spencer, had bought the play. The only way he could secure it as his starring vehicle was to get under Mr. Spencer's managerial wing, and this was soon arranged. Mr. Spencer was equally anxious to get this popular star under his direction, believing him to be the ideal actor for the title role of the new play. In the meantime Mr. Gilmore had contracted to use "The Call of the North" during the coming season, and had bought the entire production of this memorable success of last year. Consequently his new manager has taken over this property together with the star. "The Call of North" is a dramatization by George Broadhurst of Stewart Edward White's novel, "The Conjuror's House." A. J. Spencer will present Paul Gilmore for the main part of the coming season in "The Call of the North," and will produce "The Candidate" for him in the Spring, the latter being delayed until that time in order to get a New York opening for Mr. Gilmore.

THE RUINS OF FORT FISHER

Rev. J. A. Smith Makes an Appeal For Preservation of Contour of The Land—Aid From Congress.

(Written For the Star.)

Last Thursday the writer in company with Mr. Wm. Mayo spent the entire day amid the ruins of Fort Fisher and the mighty fortress of the Southern Confederacy. We went down to lay out the land and locate the boundary of the coming National park. The sea face of the old fort is about gone but the land face is in a pretty good state of preservation, but this is not apparent to the visitor who is ignorant of the situation. This, owing to the fact that all the old mounds or batteries on the land face are completely hidden from view by trees, grass and undergrowth of all kinds. The road leading from Fisher's bloody gate to Craig's landing, the road down which the Union forces made their assault, is completely destroyed by bushes and undergrowth. As the writer with the old gentleman, 80 years of age, made his way to Craig's landing over this old River road, felt like fighting again, somebody we hardly knew who. We will say this much, however, that it is a shame and disgrace to modern cirvilization that this historic spot, where was fought one of the greatest land and naval battles in the history of the world should be allowed to grow up in weeds and such a dense undergrowth. A few weks ago a prominent Englishman wrote a lengthy article in the Philadelphia Press in which he criticised and wondered at the people of the United States in allowing nearly half a century to pass away without locating and marking the spot where this great battle was fought. As we fought our way last Thursday through millions of mosquitoes, suffering from heat and almost perished for water, we were convinced of the fact that the people of Wilmington have been fast asiep for nearly half a century. All the classical scholars of the city have forgotten that old Latin motto, "Carpe Diem" which literally means take the day, or take advantage of the passing opportunity. It seems as if our people have not been able to see or grasp the idea that the preservation of this old historic battle field means more to Wilmington than tongue can tell or pen describe. Many a Southern and Northern city would long, long ago taken immediate advantage of this splendid opportunity which Wilmington has possessed for nearly 50 years. In the first place this most mysterious carelessness and this deep strange slumber shows a want of patriotism and failure to remember the heroic dead. Some of the best and bravest men of the Old North State fell at Fort Fisher and they are buried there today in the marshes forgotten and no slab to indicate that they fell there in defense of North Carolina. Last Thursday in the heat we stood with our aged companion in front of Fisher's bloody gate, where my own company lost 85 per cent. in killed and wounded and among this number I had two first cousins, who were instantly killed. Our captain was also killed, a gallant officer Captain James L. McCormick What was true of my own company, was true of the other commands and our State lost in this battle some of the truest and best men she had in the Confederate Army. Now can any citizen of Wilmington or this State blame the writer for feeling indignant that this old battleground should be neglected and the graves of brave men unmarked. We, the survivors on both sides, are fixed and determined to have a National park down there and if the next Congress don't give us this park the influence of the soldiers' vote, both North and South, is going to be thrown on the side of those who hear our pathetic appeal. Comrade John B. Jones, of Utica, New York, intimated this fact to the Committee on Military Affairs last January, when he appeared before them. Our recent trip to the ruins of Fort Fisher convinced us of the fact that the citizens of Wilmington ought to give a helping hand to this park movement. In advance of any government appropriation our people ought to chip in and have the road from Craig's landing to the Gate opened up and also have the trees and undergrowth removed from the mound on the land face so that the remnant of the old Fort could be plainly seen. In the present condition of the Fort we would feel ashamed to carry a visitor there and it would be almost an impossibility to give a stranger a clear and concise idea of the position occupied by the various troops who fought that battle. It is not too late yet to do somehing but time and tide wait for no man and we cannot afford to procrastinate in regard to this matter. We would like to write more along this line, but we are 25 miles from Wilmington and the train to take this letter will soon be here.

J. A. SMITH.

"Have you told Necia?" the young man inquired.

"No; you'll have to do that. I never could. She might—disbelieve. What's more, you mustn't tell her yet. Wait till I give the word."

"John Gale," said the lieutenant, "you're the bravest man I ever knew and the best." He choked a bit. "You sacrificed all that life meant when this girl was a baby, and now when she has come into womanhood you give up your blood for her. By all that's great, you are a man! I want your hand!"

Then he inquired irrelevantly: "But what about Bennett, Mr. Gale? You say you never found him?"

The trader answered after a moment's hesitation, "He is still at large," at which his companion exclaimed, "I'd love to meet him in your stead!"

Gale seemed seized with a desire to speak, but even while he hesitated out of the silent night there came the sound of quick footsteps approaching briskly, as if the owner were in haste and knew whither he was bound.

"Lieutenant Burrell!" a gruff voice cried. "Let me in! Quick! I've got work for you to do! Open up! This is Ben Stark!"

CHAPTER XV.

AND A KNOT TIGHTENED.

A DAY of shattered hopes is a desolate thing, but the night of such a day is desolate indeed. In all his life Poleon Doret had never sunk to such depths of despondency, for his optimistic philosophy and his buoyant faith in the goodness of life forbade it. The arrival of the freight steamer afforded him some distraction, but there was only a small consignment for the store, and that was quickly disposed of; so, leaving the other citizens of Flambeau to wrangle over their private merchandise, he went back to his solitary vigil, which finally became so unbearable that he sought to escape his thoughts, or at least to drown them for awhile, amid the lights and life and laughter of Stark's saloon.

Runnion annoyed him with his volubility, for the news of his good fortune had fired the man with a reckless disregard for money, and he turned to gaming as the one natural recourse of his ilk.

It was shortly after midnight that Stark came into the place. Poleon was not too absorbed in his own fortunes to fail to notice the extraordinary ferocity and exhilaration of the saloon keeper nor that his face was keener, his nostrils thinner, his walk more nervous and his voice more cutting than usual when he spoke to Runnion:

"Come here!"

"I'll be with you when I finish this hand," said the player over his shoulder.

"Come here!" Stark snapped his command, and Runnion threw down his cards.

Drawing the reluctant gambler aside, Stark began to talk rapidly to him, almost within earshot of Poleon, who watched them, idly wondering what Stark had to say that could make Runnion start and act so queerly. Well, it was their affair. They made a bad pair to draw to. He knew that Runnion was the saloon keeper's lieutenant and obeyed implicitly his senior's commands. He could distinguish nothing they said, nor was he at all curious until a knot of noisy men crowded up to the bar and, forcing the two back nearer to the table where he sat, his sharp ears caught these words from Runnion's lips:

"Not with me! She'd never go with me!" And Stark's reply:

"She'll go where I send her and with anybody I tell her to."

The Frenchman lost what followed, for a newly dealt hand required study. He scanned his cards and tossed them face up before the dealer; then he overheard Runnion say:

"It's the only one in camp. He might sell it if you offered him enough." At this Stark called one of the men at the bar aside, and the three began to dicker.

"Not a cent less," the third man announced loudly. "There ain't another Peterborough in town."

Going outside, Runnion said again to Stark:

"She won't go with me, Ben. She don't like me. You see, I made love to her, and she got mad and wanted me killed."

"She'll never know who you are until it's too late to turn back," said the other, "and you are the only man I can trust to take her through. I can trust you. You owe me too much to be crooked."

"Oh, I'll act square with you! But, look here, what's all this about anyhow? Why do you want that girl? You said you didn't care for her that way. You told me so yourself. Anyway, I ain't the safest kind of a chaperon for a good looking girl."

Stark laid a cold hand on Runnion's shoulder close up to his neck.

"Never mind what I said. She's mine, and you've got to promise to be straight with her. I've trusted you before, and if you're not on the level now say so. It will save you a lot of trouble."

"Oh, all right!" exclaimed Runnion testily. "Only it looks mighty queer."

He melted into the darkness, and Stark returned to his cabin, where he paced back and forth impatiently, smiling evilly now and then, consulting his watch at frequent intervals. A black look had begun to settle on his face, but it vanished when Necia came, and he met her with a smile.

"I was afraid you had weakened," he said. "Everything is ready and waiting. I've got the only canoe in the place, a Peterborough, and hired a good oarsman to put you through, instructing him to make as fast time as he can and to board the first steamer that overtakes you. Too bad this freighter that just got in isn't going the other way. However, there's liable to be another any hour, and if one doesn't come along you'll find enough blankets and food in the skiff, so you needn't go ashore. You'll be there before you know it."

Then he led her out into the darkness, and they stumbled down to the river's bank, descending to the gravelly water's edge, where rows of clumsy hand sawed boats and poling skiffs were chafing at their painters. The up river steamer was just clearing.

Stark's low whistle was answered a hundred yards below, and they searched out a darker blot that proved to be a man's figure.

"Is everything ready?" he inquired, at which the shadow grunted unintelligibly. So, holding Necia by the arm, Stark helped her back to a seat in the stern.

"This man will take you through," he said. "You can trust him all right."

The oarsman clambered in and adjusted his sweeps; then Stark laid a hand on the prow and shoved the light boat out into the current, calling softly:

"Goodby and good luck!"

"Goodby, Mr. Stark. Thank you ever so much," the girl replied, too numb and worn out to say much or to notice or care whither she was bound or who was her boatman. She had been swept along too swiftly to reason or fear for herself any more.

Stark did not return to his cabin, but went back instead to his saloon, where he saw Poleon Doret still sprawling with elbows on the table, his hat pulled low above his sullen face. Stark then went out and down toward the barracks. A light behind the drawn curtains of the officer's house told that Burrell was not abed, but he waited a long moment after his summons before the door was opened, during which he heard the occupant moving about and another door close in the rear. When he was allowed entrance at last he found the young man alone in a smoke filled room, with a bottle and two empty glasses on the table.

For at the sound of his voice Gale had whispered to Burrell, "Keep him out!" and the lieutenant had decided to refuse his late visitor admittance when he lighted on the expedient of concealing the trader in the bedroom at the rear. It was only natural, he reasoned, that Gale should dislike to face a man like Stark before he had regained his composure.

"Go in there and wait till I see what he wants," he had said, and, shutting the old man in, he had gone forth to admit Stark. Stark entered and closed the door.

"I've got some work for you, lieutenant. It's got to be done tonight, right now! You represent the law, or at least you've taken every occasion to so declare yourself, so now I've come to you with something big. It's a serious affair, and, being as I'm a peaceful man, I want to go by the law." His eyes mocked the words he uttered. "You seem to carry the weight of this whole community on your shoulders, so I'm here to give you some information."

Burrell said quietly: "It's a little late for polite conversation. Come to the point."

"I've got a murderer for you."

"You've had a killing in your place, eh?"

"No; I've just made a discovery. I found it all out by accident, too—pure accident. By heaven, you can't tell me there isn't a beneficent Providence overlooking our affairs. He's a friend of yours and a highly respected party. He's a glorious example to this whole river. He's everybody's friend. He's the shining mark of this whole country. He's the benevolent renegade, Squaw Man Gale. Gaylord is his name, and I was a fool not to know it sooner."

The disclosure had not affected the soldier as Stark expected, and his anger began to lift itself.

"The man's a murderer. He's wanted in California, where I came from. He's been indicted, and there's a price on his head. He's hidden for fifteen years, but he'll hang as sure as I stand here."

Burrell knew he must gain time for thought. One false step might ruin all. He could not face this on the spur of the moment; so, shrugging his shoulders with an air of polite skepticism, he assumed a tone of good natured raillery.

"Fifteen years? Murder? John Gale a murderer? Why, that's almost—pardon me if I smile—I'm getting sleepy. What proof have you?"

"Proof!" blazed the gambler. "Proof! Ask Gaylord! Proof! Why, the woman he murdered was my wife!"

It was Burrell's turn now to fall incoherent, and not only did his speech forsake him, but his thoughts went madly veering off into a wilderness where there was no trail, no light, no hope. What frightful bones were these he bared? This man was Bennett! This was Necia's father! He raised a pair of eyes that had become furious and bloodshot and suddenly realized that the man before him, who persisted in saddling upon Gale this heinous crime, was the slayer of Necia's mother, for he did not doubt Gale's story for an instant. He found his fingers writhing to feel the creature's throat.

"Proof!" Stark was growling. "How much proof do you need? I've followed him for fifteen years. I've tracked him with men and dogs through woods and deserts and mining camps. I've slept on his trail for 5,000 miles, and now do you think I'm mistaken? He killed my wife, I say, and robbed me of my little girl! That's her in his house. That's her he calls Necia. She's my girl—my girl, do you understand?—and I'll have his life."

Burrell had no inkling yet of the father's well shaped plans nor how farreaching they were and could barely stammer:

"So! You—you know?"

"Yes! She wears the evidence around her neck, and if that isn't enough I can furnish more—evidence enough to smother you. My name isn't Stark at all. I changed it years ago for certain reasons. I've changed it more than once, but that's my privilege and my own affair. Her name is Merridy Bennett."

"I don't suppose you know I'm going to marry her?" said the Kentuckian irrelevantly.

"No," replied the other; "I wasn't aware of the fact."

"Well, I am. I'll be your son-in-law."

"There's a lot of things, Burrell, for you and me to settle up first. For one thing, I want those mines of hers. I'm her father, and she's not of age. I'll take them anyway as her next of kin."

Burrell did not follow up this statement, for its truth was incontrovertible, so he continued:

"We'll adjust that after Gale is attended to. But meanwhile what do you want me to do?"

THE WORLD'S RAILROADS

Increase of Mileage and Enormous Outlay For Construction.

(Iron Trade Review.)

It is interesting to note that in three years, 1904 to 1907, the United States increased its railway mileage by 7.4 per cent., an average of 2.4 per cent. per year. The world, as already noted, increased by 8.1 per cent in three years, or at the rate of 2.6 per cent. per year. Thus the United States has not increased altogether as rapidly as the world at large. In the early days of railroading the United States gained much more rapidly than the rest of the world, but naturally a point must be reached with any country when the territory is fairly well served and mileage does not need to be increased largely. With a mile of road for every 13 square miles of area it would naturally be supposed that this country has done the heavy end of its work, in the building of new road, and the statistics show that the rest of the world has passed it in percentage of annual increase.

As a suggestion relative to the amount of iron and steel involved in railroads, it may be said that, roughly speaking, there are about 45,000,000 tons of rails in use in the steam roads of the United States, about 20,000,000 tons of iron and steel in cars and locomotives and perhaps 10,000,000 tons more in bridges, viaducts and buildings, a grand total of something like 75,000,000 tons for 228,000 miles of road, about 220 tons per mile. These figures are naturally only rough approximations, but they are indicative. The world at large has two and a half times as great a railroad mileage as the United States, and doubtless twice as much iron and steel in use, so that the world has something like 150,000,000 tons of iron and steel engaged in steam railroad transportation. At the rate of increase in the world's railroad mileage shown in the past three years, it would require 27 years to double the mileage.

BASE BALL

National League.

Brooklyn, July 3.—New York won both ends of the double header today under conditions unparalleled in local baseball history. The crowd was the biggest on record, making ground rules necessary, but the spectators encroached on the field and much rowdyism occurred over foul balls which were fought for by the people and appropriated. Some fifty balls were lost in this way. Several arrests were made.

The first game lasted 14 innings. New York won, 5 to 3, after having Raymond knocked out of the box in the eighth. Mathewson went to the rescue and saved the day. McIntyre lost his own game in the final inning by fumbling a bunt and making a wild pitch. The ball rolled into the crowd and counted for two bases, Murray tallying from second. Two hits scored the other run. Ames and Rucker had a pitchers' battle in the second game. The former won 2 to 1 through better pitching and faultless support.

American League.

New York, July 3.—Philadelphia twice outplayed the locals, capturing a double-header by score of 5 to 2 and 7 to 0. In the first game New York would have been shut out if Davis had not dropped Livingston's throw in the fourth. In the second game Coombs was invincible with men on bases and easily blanked the New York team.

Boston, July 3.—Boston took two games from Washington today, the first 6 to 4, the second 5 to 1. Hard hitting gave Boston the victory in the first game after Wolter had been taken from the box because of wildness. Arrellanes allowed the visitors four hits in the second game and the locals won by hitting Altrock hard.

St. Louis, July 3.—St. Louis made it four victories out of five games by defeating Chicago 4 to 0 in the last of the series today. Deneen held Chicago to two hits and they never had a chance to score. Smith strained his back in the first inning and retired.

Yale Wins From Harvard.

New York, July 3.—In a rousing 10-inning finish Yale defeated Harvard today in a hotly contested game which carried with it the honors of college baseball supremacy for 1909. The score was 5 to 2, and when the last Harvard player had gone out on a high fly to the outfield there was a hurricane of cheers from the 10,000 spectators at the Polo Grounds and a rush of students to carry off triumphantly on their shoulders VanVleck, the Yale twirler and right fielder, who turned the tide toward victory in the eighth inning with a home run to the back fence and snuffed out Harvard's hopes of scoring in the same inning by two dazzling catches. Yale and Harvard had each won a game and today's contest was to decide the winner.

Yale made its grand finish in the tenth inning. A slashing drive by Murphy, a boble of Jefferson's grass cutter, a moment of unsteadiness by Pitcher Hicks in which he made a wild pitch, bringing in a run, followed by a glaring error by McLaughlin, which let in two runs more over the plate, ended Harvard's hopes of victory.

SIX INJURED BY BOMB.

Fearful Outrage in Rhode Island Town Five Are Seriously Hurt.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Woonsocket, R. I., July 3.—A dynamite bomb thrown into the middle of a crowd surrounding a street vender tonight injured nine people, one of whom will die. The bomb thrower was not arrested and the cause of the throwing of the missile is a mystery. Five persons were severely hurt.

All five were removed to the hospital and four others who received cuts from flying glass, were sent to their homes after receiving treatment. All except Lamay are expected to recover. His death is expected soon. He was hit in the portions of his intestines.

The police have no clue to the outrage. The injured men were in a crowd which surrounded a street vendor, John Harrison, of Providence, who was selling neckties. Without warning the deadly missile was thrown, apparently from the outer edge of the crowd. It struck close to Harrison's feet, bounded past him and exploded with a terrific roar. Pieces of iron and glass were hurled in every direction in the midst of the crowd, but Harrison escaped uninjured although the bomb was apparently aimed at him. He told the police that he had no suspicion as to the identity of the bomb thrower, and that he was not aware that he had any enemy.

From the fragments of the bomb which the police have been able to recover, it is judged that it consisted of a glass bottle or jar containing dynamite or nitro-glycerine and pieces of iron.

Lamay died late tonight.

SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENT.

New York Millionaire Received Fatal Injuries—Others Hurt.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Atlantic City, NN. J., July 3.—Hurled from a big automobile against the tree in the woods at Port Republic, ten miles north of here tonight, Benjamin B. Wood, of 83rd street and Broadway, New York, a deputy sheriff and millionaire real estate dealer was so badly injured that he is not expected to live. Miss Estelle Haas, of 73rd and Broadway, who was one of the party, received internal injuries. M. A. Haas, of the same address was cut about the face and the chaffeur, whose name is Guy, suffered a broken leg. Oscar Reis, of New York, another member of the party, escaped with bruises.

The accident was caused by the breaking of the steering gear. The automobile was traveling at a rapid pace and as the gear snapped it swerved and crashed into the woods through which the party was passing.

LEPER EARLY IN NEW YORK

Locked in Baggage Car and Carried There For Treatment.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, D. C., July 3.—John R. Early, the alleged leper, who has been quarantined in a camp near this city since last August and whose case has attracted wide spread interest because of the sharp controversies into which noted specialists have been drawn, over the nature of his ailment, left Washington at 10:45 o'clock tonight, locked in a baggage car, attached to the regular Pennsylvania Railroad train. Early will enter the Skin and Cancer Hospital, of New York, for treatment under Dr. L. Duncan Bulkley.

Near Castle Rock, Wash., yesterday, an automobile in which Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco, and former United States Senator Fred Mulkley, of Portland, were traveling from Portland to Seattle, overturned yesterday afternoon. One member of the party sustained a broken leg. Mr. Heney saved himself from injury by jumping.

At Portsmouth, N. H., it was announced yesterday that Captain Frank A. Wilner, now in command of the armored cruiser Pennsylvania, will succeed Rear Admiral Edwin K. Moore as commandant of the Portsmouth Navy Yard. The present commandant retires July 24th.

TEXTILE ASSOCIATION MET

Raleigh the Next Place of Meeting. North Carolina Men Officers.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Spartanburg, S. C., July 3.—The Southern Textile Association was called to order this afternoon by M. G. Stone, of Pacolet Mills. J. B. Lee, president of the Chamber of Commerce, made the address of welcome. President N. T. Brown, of Raleigh, was introduced and the convention proper was opened. A two hours session was held and adjournment was taken at four o'clock for the game of baseball at Fairfield Park between Greenville and Spartanburg.

The convention was called to order again at 8 P. M., and after reading of papers by A. S. Winslow, of Clinton, on "Double carding," and by Arthur Hamilton, of Spartanburg, on "Automatic vs Plain Loom" the body went into executive session. Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: President P. C. McCall, Greenville, S. C.; First Vice President, W. B. Hamrick, Columbia, S. C.; Second Vice President, J. H. Bagewell; Third Vice President W. J. McDonald, Lenoir, N. C.; Fourth Vice President, D. B. Bogan, Spartanburg, S. C.; Secretary, E. E. Bowen, Rockingham, N. C. (re-elected); Assistant Secretary, G. S. Wescott, Charlotte, N. C.; Treasurer, W. Clarke, (re-elected).

Raleigh was chosen as the next place of meeting. After the adjournment of the business, session the mill men enjoyed a banquet.

TWENTY HURT IN PANIC

Women and Childen Alarmed at Cry of Fire Rush From Store.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Detroit, Mich., July 3.——One child is dying and about 20 more women and children are suffering from severe injuries received today in a panic in the Kress Five and Ten Cent Store on Woodward Avenue, following the cry of "fire' 'after a scuffle between two women on the crowded second floor of the establishmen'.

About 600 women and children with here and there a man or boy swept across the floor to the sairs and jammed into a panic stricken, screaming, fighting mob, which broke down the guard rails on one of the stairways and trampled over all who lost their footing.

—Fayetteville Index: A case in which a notorious outlaw, Alex Gilmore, prominently figured, came up in the court of Police Justice Overby on Friday, when Lucien Bryant, colored, was tried and bound over to court on the charge of receiving stolen property, consisting of several hundred pairs of shoes, which it is charged were taken from an Atlantic Coast Line car by Gilmore and disposed of by Bryant. Alex Gilmore is one of the most notorious outlaws known in the history of the State. He has been imprisoned in North and South Carolina, but has invariably made his escape.
